Rioting In Reds' U-Mines

Reports Come While Soviets Conduct New Wave of Arrests Thru Russian Zone

BERLIN (P)—New riots in the Soviet-run uranium mines of East Germany were reported today as a fresh wave of arrests by Communist police spread over the rebellious Russian zone.

The U. S. High Commission news paper Neue Zeitung said troops of the East German "peoples' army" have been rushed into the Erz Gebirge uranium mining area along the Czech border to put down the miners' new uprising.

The paper said 200 miners have been arrested this week for "open rioting." They were demanding release of 1,200 comrades arrested in the big anti-Communist revolt of June 17.

Schwarzenberg and Johanngeorgstadt, two mining towns between Aue and the Czech border, were named as the main trouble centers. This area produces rich uranium ore used by Russia to make atom bombs.

A new campaign of terror swept through the Communist zone as police and courts combined in a concerted drive to suppress the danger of a new mass revolt.

Refugees fleeing to West Berlin told of night raids by police into hundreds of homes and mass roundups of suspected trouble makers in many cities. They said the wave of arrests began Tuesday.

"Red Hilde" Benjamin, the new justice minister, was busy carrying out her announced program of cracking down on strikers through the court system she heads. Hundreds of people acquitted and released after the June 17 revolt were reported rearrested. Others who got off with light sentences have had their cases reopened for an increase of penalties.

Many Justice Ministry workers were reported fired—and some arrested—for dealing too gently with riot participants.

Police joined civilians in fleeing before the wave of Communist vengeance. Twenty-one members of the Communist "peoples' police" and 562 other refugees, including a former state secretary in the East German Construction Ministry, reported to West Berlin police yesterday and asked for asylum.

Unconfirmed reports of partisan resistance along the German-Polish border continued to seep through the Iron Curtain.

Siamese Twin Girls Born In Louisiana

LAFAYETTE, La. (P)—Siamese twin girls, joined at the lower end of the spine, were born yesterday to Mrs. Ashton Mouton, 33, wife of the mayor of Lafayette.

The birth, a million-to-one chance, is even rarer when both twins live, according to attending physicians. Doctors said, "both infants are doing exceedingly well."

The mother was also "all right," they said.

Mouton said the twins would be named Carolyn Anne and Catherine Anne.

The babies were born at 4:50 p. m. yesterday.

Catherine Anne, the larger at 6 pounds, was born first. The second child, Carolyn Anne, weighed 5 1/2 pounds.

One of the attending physicians said that "pending further studies, surgery is contemplated to separate the twins."

Farmers Stop Blaze In Sheep-Grazing Field

BROOKFIELD, Mo. (P)—Some 50 farmers, responding to an alarm delivered over a rural telephone line, turned out yesterday to halt a fire in a stubble field in which about 400 sheep were grazing.

The fire started when a board got caught in the power belt of a hay baler and burned over about five acres on the farm of Ralph Correll near here before they could be put out.

Just Read Gilmore

If you have been worrying about the rain—or lack of it—when none falls to relieve the drought, quit it and read about folk who are worse off. The Eddy Gilmore series, which has been running daily this week in The Democrat, reveals interesting and heretofore unknown facts about life in the USSR. Watch for another article Sunday that gives more lowdown on the dark spots behind the Iron Curtain.

Tame Martin To Be Set Free: He May Land On Your Hand

If a young martin flies around your porch soon, hold out your finger and he may land there and become your pet.

A pet martin is going to be released in a few days here in Sedalia and he is so tame he will take perch on a person's finger and eat right out of your hand.

About two weeks ago a tiny bird, young to fly, fell from its nest onto the lawn of the F. J. Lawrence home, 1690 West 19th, and the parents ignored it. Mrs. Lawrence found the bird and took it into the house.

For a few days she force-fed the feathered friend and then she started holding flying lessons for it. When it could fly she decided to turn it loose. One morning she let it go and it was gone for a day before a neighbor found it, a wing injured, and returned it to Mrs. Lawrence.

It has almost recovered now and Mrs. Lawrence once again will release the bird to go on with its life where it was intended to live—in the wide open spaces.

But, it may be the bird will continue to enjoy human company and will swoop down on a porch, or in a group of persons on a lawn. If so, have your finger ready as a perch.

British Not Convinced Malenkov Has Power

Churchill and Colleagues Have Own Information, Will Not Be Surprised If Even Greater Changes Occur Soon

LONDON (P)—Leaders of Britain's government were reported far from convinced today that Premier Georgi M. Malenkov wields total power in the Soviet Union.

Qualified informants said Prime Minister Churchill and his colleagues on the basis of their own information from Moscow would not be surprised if changes even more dramatic than the purging of Lavrenty P. Beria take place in the Russian hierarchy, and within the foreseeable future.

Government spokesmen did not express these views officially. But the private opinions were given considerable support by Acting Prime Minister R. A. Butler's statements to Parliament yesterday.

Opening a foreign affairs debate in the House of Commons, Butler explained the Western Allies had proposed a Big Four foreign ministers meeting on Germany and Austria, though they might await further and perhaps even more sensational events behind the Iron Curtain, and above all wait to see who are likely to remain the real repositories of power in Moscow with whom we will have to negotiate.

Uncertainties about the Soviets, according to Butler, led the British to shelve for the time being Churchill's proposal for a top-level parley between the Russians and the West.

Within the context of this thinking, British officials today pointed out the meaning of:

1. The apparent failure of three high leaders of the Red army to attend an important meeting of Russian military men in Moscow last week.

2. The sudden eight-day postponement of the meeting of the Soviet Union's parliament, the Supreme Soviet, which had been set last week for July 28 and now has been put off to Aug. 5.

The Moscow meeting of the Red army bosses was called to hear denunciations of Beria, the deposed police chief formerly considered No. 2 man to Malenkov.

British officials noted that the absentees included one of the two deputy ministers of defense, Marshal Alexander M. Vasilievsky, the other deputy, Marshal Georgi Zhukov, spoke at the meeting; Marshal Ivan S. Konev, before Stalin's death commander of Soviet ground forces and an honor guard at Stalin's bier, and veteran Gen. Sergei Stemenko, a former army chief of staff.

Many officials here believe their absence from the Moscow meeting may mean they are not prepared to identify themselves with the campaign against Beria—and hence may also be in disgrace.

Crackdown on Speed 'Demons' In Illinois

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (P)—A crackdown on truck and passenger car speeders on Illinois highways was promised today by Phil M. Brown, state police chief.

While I will not resort to setting up speed traps on the highways," Brown said, "it may become necessary to have state policemen in civilian clothes patrolling the highway in unmarked cars."

He said some vehicles are violating the 45 mile per hour limit fixed for the speed of most trucks and buses, and added that zone speed limits were often ignored by passenger car drivers.

But, cautiously, these officials added the absences may have been caused by less portentous reasons.

According to these informants, the postponement of the Russian parliamentary session may mean the Soviet purge launched with Beria's dismissal is not yet complete. One of the purposes of the session, it is believed generally, will be to confirm the action by the government and the Communist party against Beria and his cronies.

Perhaps, British officials speculate, the Soviet high command is not sure yet just what purges must be approved.

Man Is Found Unconscious. Dies Soon After

SPRINGFIELD (P)—John E. Daniel, 30-year-old bachelor, died of a short time after he was found unconscious in the back yard of the duplex where he lived.

Police said there were red marks on his neck, and a cord from a bathrobe was found nearby. The unconscious man was found on the ground near a clothes line post with his head back and his knees drawn up.

Both police and Douglas Greene, prosecuting attorney, are investigating the case. Greene said he was not prepared to say whether the man had been slain or had committed suicide. Dr. E. Allen Pickens said an autopsy would be performed.

The body was found by John Gaines, Kansas City sales promoter. Daniel's former employer, Gaines told police he called at the Daniel residence about 11:40 p. m., but found no one at home. He said he went downtown and got a call from Daniel shortly after midnight, asking him to come out.

The Kansas City man said he found the lights on, but no one in the apartment, so he went into the backyard where he found Daniel unconscious. Daniel was pronounced dead upon arrival at a hospital.

Daniel had been employed by Gaines in Kansas City and later came here as branch manager for his company. The branch was sold last May to a Chicago firm and Daniels remained in its employment until two weeks ago.

1,563 New GI Names On Casualty List

WASHINGTON (P)—Recent heavy fighting to stem Communist attacks in Korea added 1,563 new names to the list of American battle casualties reported in the last week.

It was the biggest weekly rise since Nov. 7, 1951.

The figures, released last night and representing notifications to families through last Friday, brought the Korean battle casualty total to 139,272.

The total itself rose only 1,026 from the week before, because of bookkeeping result of the transfer of 537 names to the non-battle casualty list. The military services differentiate between men killed, wounded, injured and missing in action, and those dead or incapacitated by illness or other cause.

Rich escaped by sliding out a rear opening of the bunker and working his way down the slope of the outpost hill toward enemy territory.

The squad leader, who has been in Korea since February, hid the next day near an abandoned rice paddy where he could get some water. He had no food.

The following night—24 hours after he escaped from the bunker—Rich again took to the darkened trails.

He climbed a hill toward what he thought was the Marine front line and shouted his identity near two machine gun positions. But then he discovered he was deeper in enemy territory. He had walked under the muzzles of the two Chinese machine gun nests.

"I began to shoot at me," Rich said, "and fire mortars around me. So I knew I was still a little off base."

"I circled around to the Berlins," the sergeant continued, "and started working my way up over the shoulder of East Berlin."

Chinese Seize 4 Outposts

Stage Comeback After Having Been Beaten Back Earlier On Central Front

SEOUL, Korea (P)—Chinese Reds seized four outposts northwest of Kumsuwa, central Korean road hub, last night after earlier beating back a South Korean attempt to capture a dominating hill in the Kumsuwa River area.

A Red force which built up to 750 men won the first outpost just after dark in a 15-minute action, AP Correspondent John Randolph reported from the front. Both the Reds and South Koreans hurled intense mortar and artillery fire during the short-lived engagement.

Two and a half hours later, smaller Red assault groups—about 150 to 175 men each—drove South Korean defenders from three other knob outposts in the same area northwest of Kumsuwa.

Earlier, South Koreans fought with bayonets, knives and rifle butts to the top of Sam Hyon Hill overlooking the Kumsuwa River area but were beaten off in a 5 1/2 hour fight by a reinforced Chinese regiment.

After dark, the Reds also seized a South Korean outpost hill five miles northwest of the vital road junction of Kumsuwa, western anchor of the Central Front.

Associated Press Correspondent John Randolph reported from the front that the communists quickly poured a battalion of about 750 soldiers into the 15-minute assault, while thousands of shells from both Red and Allied big guns turned night into day.

North of Sam Hyon, Allied air and ground observers reported sighting Chinese troops. Allied big guns shelled two separate Red battalions massing north of the battle line, plus a concentration of about 40 Red trucks and six tanks.

Rugged Sam Hyon Hill overlooks important territory on the Kumsuwa River line, which the South Koreans established after being forced back last week by the mightiest Red offensive in two years.

Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, commander of the U. S. 8th Army, toured the critical Central Front with South Korean President Syngman Rhee. He told commanders of the two Allied forces holding the Kumsuwa line—the U. S. 9th Corps and ROK 2nd Corps—the mighty Red offensive has been repulsed and the Allies now occupy "the shortest and most defensible line consistent with their mission in this area."

Chinese doggedly to the southern slopes of Sam Hyon, the ROKs fought through this afternoon with Chinese on the north, the 8th Army reported. The South Koreans had jumped off at 7 a. m., and slugged their way to the summit in close combat by 10. They were hurled back around 12:30 p. m. by a regiment of 3,500 attacking Chinese.

The South Koreans jumped off against Sam Hyon at 7 a. m., fought their way to the top in hand-to-hand combat by 10, then were forced back shortly after noon by a reinforced Red battalion—more than 3,000 soldiers.

On the eastern flank of the Kumsuwa Bulge, men of the U. S. 3rd Infantry Division hurled back some 150 Reds who lobbed hand grenades into their trenches during a bloody hour-long fight.

To the west flank, South Koreans tore up a 200-man Red attack in a four-hour seesaw battle for an outpost.

Allied fighter-bombers dropped more than 300 tons of bombs on Red front-line positions today, particularly in the Kumsuwa Bulge, the Air Force said.

Eighteen American B29s fought off Communist jet night fighters early this morning while on bomb runs over two Red airfields in northwest Korea. The Air Force said all returned safely.

Widespread Racketeering In Missouri

Federal Grand Jury Finds Violations Of Statutes In State

ST. LOUIS (P)—A federal grand jury here reported today its inquiry into labor activities had disclosed widespread violations of the anti-racketeering statute throughout Missouri and in other sections of the nation.

New indictments were turned by the jury against 14 St. Louis and outstate Missouri American Federation of Labor leaders, replacing ones which had been declared lacking detail of offenses charged.

U. S. District Judge George H. Moore extended the jury's term scheduled to end next week in order that it may continue its investigation.

The grand jury called labor conditions in eastern Missouri the worst in the nation. It reported that conditions in Kansas City and in Illinois closely parallel those in the St. Louis area.

The grand jury report declared that "large sums of money have been extorted from contractors by self-seeking labor leaders, especially the local business agents and representatives who have stopped at nothing to obtain their material ends."

The new indictments named the same defendants but the number of true bills was increased from 11 to 14.

Those named in the new indictments included Lawrence L. Callahan, business manager of Local 562 AFL, Steamfitters' Union; two of his assistants, George F. Seaton and John L. (Doc) Lawler; Carl J. US Tries to Hold Rhee to Accept Korean Armistice

Despite New and Angry South Korean Threats to Explode Bright Promise Of Truce, US Hopes for ROK Approval

WASHINGTON (P)—The United States sought today to hold Syngman Rhee to acceptance of a Korean truce despite angry new South Korean threats to explode the bright promise of an armistice.

The line of U. S. diplomacy, in the latest of many crises in the truce efforts, was laid down in a statement by Secretary of State Dulles declaring that the United States assumes Rhee "will abide by his assurances" not to obstruct a cease-fire.

The statement, issued yesterday a few hours after new demands from Seoul, renewed promises made to Rhee for American support and security guarantees if he cooperates, but emphasized, at both its beginning and end, that Washington expects Rhee to "honor the assurances he has given."

A copy of the statement was formally delivered to Rhee today by U. S. Ambassador Ellis O. Briggs.

The South Korean President, according to information available started the new series of attacks because he had a feeling he had been let down by the United States in assurances given to the Communist command in Korea a few days ago and made public Sunday.

U. S. officials were fully aware, therefore, that their utmost diplomatic skill would probably be required to get Rhee eventually to go along.

They were understood to be pressing for the fastest possible windup of truce negotiations in order to get the agreement signed, if possible, before Rhee can fully reverse his position.

Officials and diplomats say the trouble between Rhee's South Korean government and the U. S. government is simply this:

The United States is determined to end the Korean War if the Reds will agree. Rhee considers the truce a trap and a defeat for his aim of unifying his country. He is therefore trying stubbornly to keep the way open for a possible, he probably considers it inevitable—renewal of the war with American support.

When Asst. Secretary of State Walter S. Robertson was negotiating with Rhee in Korea a few weeks ago, Rhee repeatedly pressed him on this point. Robertson hammered the line that the United States thought Korea should be unified by peaceful means after an armistice, that the war so far had served the purpose of preventing Red conquest of all Korea.

Finally, having obtained promises of a mutual security pact, he said that "if the United States refuses to take action against these truce obstruction actions of South Korea, there is no telling when another untoward incident might break out again."

However, the Pyongyang announcer declared, "it appears that preparations for a truce signing have been virtually completed."

Quoting an unidentified Communist correspondent, the broadcast listed these items to support intimations that the three-year-old war was near an end:

1. Staff officers Thursday were seen, maps in hand, to be signing something, indicating that a military demarcation line had been decided.

2. Translation staffs have not met for two days, indicating they have completed translating the final draft of the truce document.

3. The hall for the signing was nearly completed, with interior decorations to be installed today; and

4. Staff and liaison meetings Thursday apparently took up the proposed exchange question "and other final discussions."

Authoritative Allied sources in Munsan said one or two minor points remain to be ironed out and that one or two more meetings of staff officers might be necessary before the chief Allied and Red negotiators meet to fix a date for the signing.

A source close to the negotiations said staff and liaison officers are progressing rapidly with final details, but the armistice has not yet been "wrapped up."

Staff officers were said to have drawn the cease-fire line across Korea during a 15-hour session ending at 1:45 a. m., Thursday. Arrangements for exchanging prisoners of war, wanting to return reportedly were set up at a meeting later in the day.

Despite a hostile reaction by Communist radio stations to President Syngman Rhee's statement Wednesday that South Korea will follow its own course of action unless the Chinese agree within six months of a truce to leave North Korea, Red workmen continued work on "Armistice Hall," the building designed for the truce signing ceremony.

The Reds hammered on the building all Thursday night, aided by American searchlights.

Official opinion in Washington was that a truce would be signed soon.

An advance party of Swiss and Swedish members of a commission which will supervise an armistice arrived in Korea from Japan. Communist radio stations reacted promptly and violently to President Syngman Rhee's statement yesterday that South Korea will follow its own course of action unless the Reds agree within six months of a truce to leave North Korea.

Peiping said the statement was "nothing but a pretext to wreck the armistice." And the broadcast added:

At the same time, however, the Red broadcasts did not say a truce was impossible. And Red workmen at Panmunjom hammered away at a new building for the armistice signing ceremonies.

North Korean Radio Hints Truce Is Set

Broadcast Indicates Armistice Is Ready, And Reds Will Sign

PANMUNJOM, Korea, Friday (P)—Persistent reports that a Korean truce might be signed within 72 hours gained strength today from a North Korean broadcast hinting broadly that the armistice document was complete and that the Reds were ready to approve it formally.

While the reports of an imminent signing lacked official confirmation from either side, the Red radio at Pyongyang, in a notably cheerful tone of voice, said that "as long as the United States does not deliberately interfere with the truce effort, there is no obstacle to the establishment of an armistice in Korea."

The Pyongyang broadcast late Thursday night went on to warn that "we cannot remain complacent" and to charge South Korean President Syngman Rhee with "one last, desperate effort to block the armistice."

It said that "if the United States refuses to take action against these truce obstruction actions of South Korea, there is no telling when another untoward incident might break out again."

However, the Pyongyang announcer declared, "it appears that preparations for a truce signing have been virtually completed."

Quoting an unidentified Communist correspondent, the broadcast listed these items to support intimations that the three-year-old war was near an end:

Churchill Is Reported Improved In Health, May Resume Work

LONDON — Sir Winston Churchill today was reported so much improved in health that he plans to set up a "little Downing Street" within the next week at Chequers, the British Prime Minister's official country residence 25 miles from London.

R. A. Butler, chancellor of the Exchequer, told the House of Commons last night Churchill is "ever so much better now."

A Churchill aide denied a report in the Paris newspaper, Paris-Press that Churchill is completely paralyzed though retaining his "intellectual lucidity." The newspaper said the report was made by Ambassador Rene Massigli to the French government.

When a reporter asked the aide if Churchill had been struck by paralysis in any way, he replied: "I am not in a position to answer that question." He added, though, that Churchill walked in the garden at Chartwell yesterday afternoon and saw a movie last night. Churchill's doctors on June 28 ordered him to take a complete rest for a month at least. The precise nature of his illness has not been announced.

Debunks McCarthy Idea Why Democrats Quit His Subcommittee

WASHINGTON — Sen. Potter (R-Mich.), a member, doesn't agree with Chairman McCarthy (R-Wis.) about why the three Democratic members quit the Senate investigations subcommittee.

"Nothing sinister in their action," Potter said last night on an ABC radio interview.

McCarthy had said the Democrats resigned because they feared staying on the committee while it was "exposing graft and corruption" of the Truman regime would hurt their political futures.

The Democrats—Senators Symington (Mo.), McClellan (Ark.) and Henry Jackson (Wash.)—quit after the Republican majority gave McCarthy sole power to hire and fire staff personnel. They said they could not accept responsibility without a voice in such matters.

Says Russia Produces Most Steel, Oil, Coal From Eastern Areas

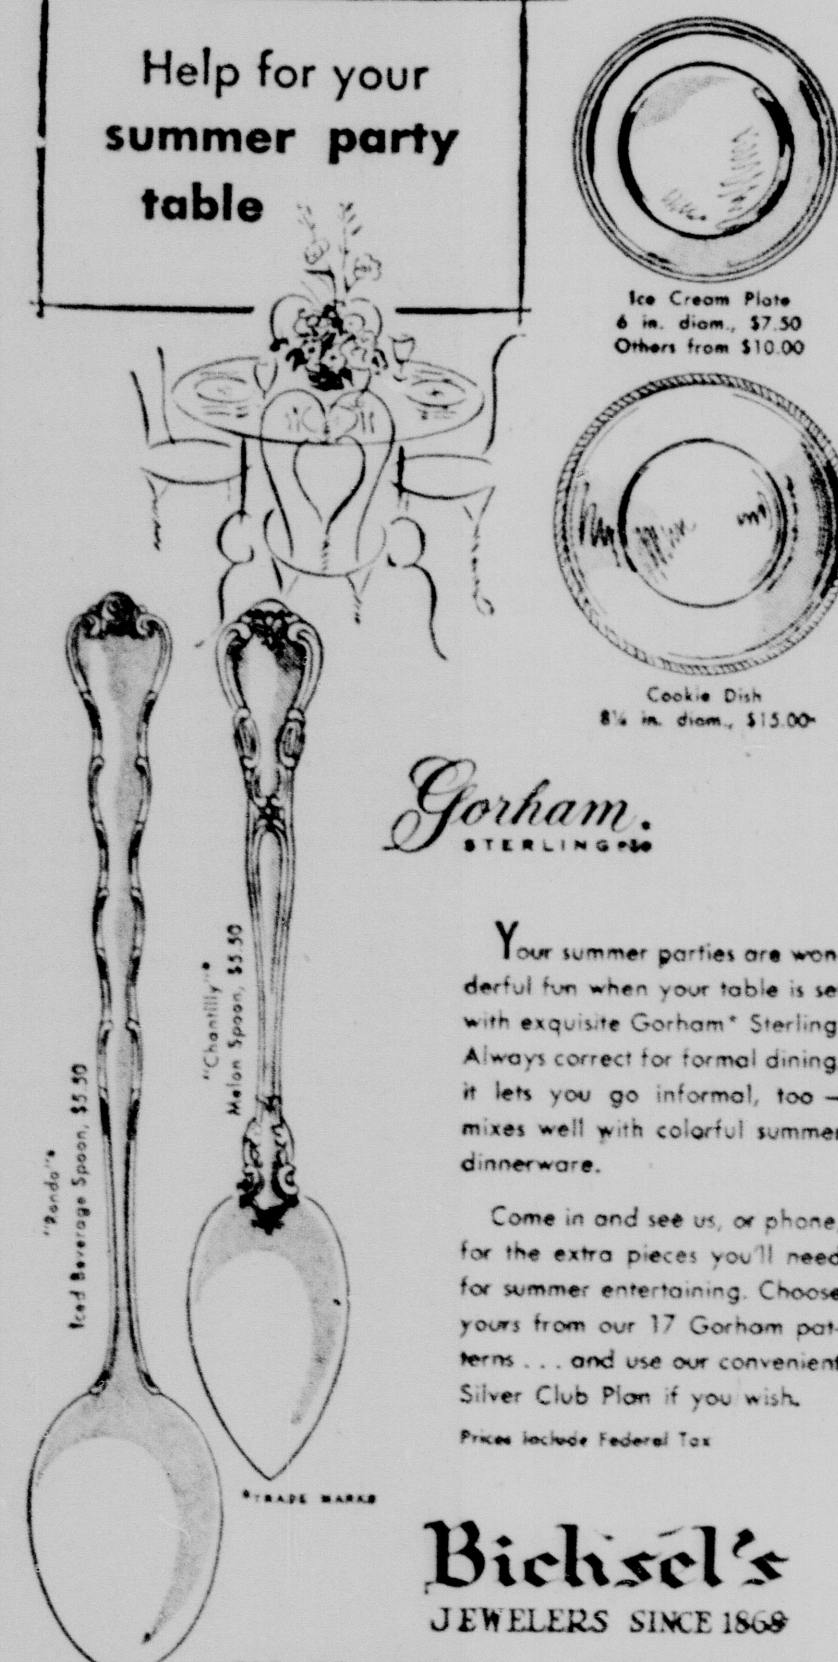

MOSCOW — The magazine Planned Economy says the Soviet Union is now producing more than half of her steel, oil and coal from eastern areas farther from potential enemy attack.

The powerful bases of heavy industry created in the eastern areas (eastern Russia and Siberia), the magazine claimed, "assure the Soviet Army of all types of weapons, ammunition, equipment."

The article said the nation's defense depends upon creation of a "powerful industry equipped with advanced techniques" deep in the interior.

BOOK-BURNING REBUTTAL—Martin Merson, chief consultant to the State Department's information chief, displays some of the anti-Soviet books he says are available in the U. S. overseas libraries. Karl Baarslag, research director for Senator McCarthy's investigating subcommittee, had charged that the libraries "just don't go in for anti-Soviet literature."

Lions Learn of 'Fair to See In '53' From Publicity Man

The Sedalia Lions Club Wednesday noon heard W. H. Ritzenthaler, publicity director of the Missouri State Fair, tell of the coming fair, the slogan of which is "The Fair to See In 1953." They met at Hotel Bothwell.

The speaker reviewed the program for this year's exposition, telling of the various exhibits which will be on the grounds, the entertainment to be seen before the grandstand, the Cettin-Wilson carnival, horse show, water carnival, and many other entertainments which have been booked.

He told of improvements and repairs to buildings damaged by the tornado last year and rebuilding of other buildings, the new lighting and electric system being installed and other items too numerous to mention.

The Missouri Building, which houses the attractions of state and sponsored by the Missouri Division of Resources and Development, is being revamped and repaired. Various articles are being repaired and placed in operation. These attractions were those which were displayed at the World's Fairs in New York and San Francisco in the 30's.

A new parking lot, free to those who desire to use it, is being opened on the State Fair property directly south of the Pittsburgh-Corning Corp. glass plant on West 16th, also a new gate for pedestrians is being opened at the extreme northwest corner of the grounds.

Arrangements to keep traffic on the move, both for vehicles and pedestrians, are being made which will greatly benefit the thousands of State Fair visitors.

Mr. Ritzenthaler announced the ticket sale for the grandstand will begin Thursday morning. The tickets have arrived and have been sorted. He also said shuttle bus service would again be had this year with the addition of two new "buses."

In closing, he said the fair management, which had hoped for a half-million visitors in 1952 but was cut short due to the storm in the middle of the week, is anticipating the reaching of the mark this year — weather permitting.

Don King, program chairman, introduced the speaker.

Orson Potter, general chairman of the ice cream social held the past week, reported the social was a success, while his finance chairman, Bert Robertson, reported he hardly expected it to meet the needed $500 which is to be presented to fill the Sedalia Improvement Association pledge.

The club voted its thanks to the Thompson-O'Connor Chevrolet-Buick Co. for the use of the car lot for the annual ice cream social which was attended by more than 2,500 persons.

Eating Costs Go Up Again; May Go Higher

NEW YORK (AP)—The cost of eating is up again. The cost of living is likely to push still higher this month and next. The purchasing power of the dollar—which rallied for a time—is slipping again.

The government's official measuring stick for all this—the consumer price index of the Bureau of Labor Statistics—set a record high in mid-June, pushing through the previous record high set a year ago and touched again at election time.

The index measures what was happening to your pocketbook six weeks ago. Since then meat prices have gone up. The price of gasoline has been raised most places. Some basic industrial prices have gone up, too—steel and various chemicals.

True, the housewife doesn't run out to the store to buy a pound of steel. But she does buy things made of steel and processed by chemicals. And the cost of making these things will be rising.

Rents continue to rise here and there across the nation. Another jump may be in store for some folk living in areas still under federal rent controls, which are scheduled to be lifted shortly.

Getting to and from work is becoming more expensive for lots of folk. Transit fares have risen in a number of cities, and are due to rise in others.

Services of all kinds—hospital and doctor bills, fuel and power—continue under the pressure of rising costs. Mailing letters may become more expensive.

But there is a brighter side to all this, if you look for it. This is the time of year that commodity prices tend to rise. Many things going up now are likely to slip back in a few months.

Weather plays a particularly big role right now. Drought, for example, has hurt the cotton crop in some important growing areas. This has boosted the price of cotton. The same drought has sent many cattle prematurely to market, lowering prices of beef for a time.

Now government loans to distressed ranchers has removed some of this pressure to sell cattle, and prices rebounded for a time at the stockyards. In other places good rains boosted the outlook for a bumper corn crop, weakening these prices.

The government's cost of living index, moreover, doesn't necessarily mirror your own case too accurately. The index reflects the list prices paid for items at the store and for rent and services. Smart shoppers can do a lot better than that.

Housewives who have been shopping the sales—and stores are putting on some very attractive ones this month—have been providing for their families with much less wear and tear on the pocketbook than the government's official samplers of list prices report. Most housewives shy away from a particular food when its price gets out of line—the government's price samplers don't.

Many shoppers report they can make good deals with merchants for many gadgets where inventories are a little sticky just now. Car dealers, for example, complain that customers are putting on the heat for higher trade-in allowances and for discounts on the prices of accessories and extras.

The government's index, however, reflects the going-price trend, and that trend right now is up. You have to sweeten a dollar with an extra 15 cents now if you expect it to do the job for you in the stores that it did four years ago.

The dollar's purchasing power has been much more stable this year than in 1951 or 1952. It's slipping a little right now. But there's hope its health will improve by the end of the year.

Cardinal Supports Protestant Restrictions In Spain, All Roman Catholic Countries

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Times says in a dispatch today from Rome the Vatican has described as not official or semi-official but nevertheless "unexceptionable" an address by Alfredo Cardinal Ottaviani supporting the Spanish bishops' position favoring restriction of Protestant minorities in Roman Catholic countries.

The cardinal's speech in support of the Spanish stand in face of criticism by some French and United States Catholics was made last March 2. The New York Times said the Vatican's statement was elicited by a request from the newspaper for an authoritative clarification of the speech in view of apparently conflicting interpretations given to it in Spain and the United States.

The Times said a controversy has raged in Catholic circles for the many months over the Spanish bishops' position that Spain, as a Catholic country, should not grant freedom of propaganda to other religions.

The dispatch added that Cardinal Ottaviani created a furor by his speech siding with the Spanish bishops and some prelates in the United States were said to have sent protests to Rome against the cardinal's statement.

The Times also carried a dispatch from Madrid which quoted ecclesiastical circles in Spain as saying the Vatican had confirmed the Spanish bishops in what they see as their duties and obligations of a Catholic state toward religion in general and Protestant minorities in particular.

The Times added that a spokesman in New York for critics of the cardinal insisted that he had spoken only in his personal capacity. The Vatican statement pointed out, the newspaper added, that the cardinal's statement was based largely on papal texts, such as encyclicals and allocutions. Cardinal Ottaviani was described as a well known Catholic jurist and expert on ecclesiastical law. He is assessor of the Holy Congregation of the Holy Office. His speech was carried by L'Osservatore Romano, the Vatican newspaper.

Half-Million Workers Poised For Strikes

WASHINGTON (AP)—Well over a half-million workers are poised for a possible mid-summer series of strikes across the nation. They include about 100,000 workers in the vital copper-producing industry and more than 5,000 at the Oak Ridge, Tenn., atomic energy plants.

Many of the unions involved are seeking pay boosts like those earlier this year in the steel and auto industries. Pay increases have been running in the neighborhood of 5 to 10 cents an hour.

Probably the most imminent strike threat is at the Oak Ridge atomic plants, where A.F.L. workers are asking higher wages and other benefits. One of the installations threatened with strike action is the atomic laboratory which builds experimental projects for scientists.

The Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service won a 10-day postponement of a threatened strike at Oak Ridge but the respite period runs out at midnight Sunday.

Nearly 200,000 telephone workers across the nation are talking strike. The CIO's communications workers union says it has not set any date as yet for a walkout. But phone exchange workers in Los Angeles, several cities in Indiana, and in Maryland and Virginia have staged "quickie" walkouts of several days each.

The International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (I.M.S.W.) recently announced that workers at the Aconda, Kennecott, Phelps-Dodge and American smelting and refining companies voted 9-1 for strike action.

Building and construction workers in several important areas, including 200,000 in the New York City area, are talking of walkouts, too. Another dispute involves 75,000 in the San Francisco area. Still another involves 17,000 in the Beaumont, Tex., area.

EVERY DAY IS VISITING DAY—You are always welcome at Boys Town of Missouri, the home for unfortunate boys that is made possible by your financial support. The boys are proud of their home and invite you to visit them. They will personally show you and your family or club members around. You can eat lunch in the special picnic area provided for visitors. Take Highway 66 to St. James.

Drug Addicts Show Preference for Heroin

CHICAGO (AP)—The first eight narcotics addicts to register in Chicago under a recently enacted state law show a decided preference for heroin.

Edward O. Holly, assistant director of the State Department of Health and Registration, said yesterday seven of the registrants use heroin while one is a marijuana smoker.

The law is designed to discourage illegal use of drugs by requiring addicts to register and carry registration certificates or face jail sentences of up to one year.

Casualty List Shows Recent Hard Fighting

WASHINGTON (AP)—Latest reported U. S. war casualties of 1,563, the biggest weekly rise since Nov. 7, 1951 reflect recent heavy fighting in Korea to stem Communist attacks.

The figures, released yesterday, bring total Korea casualties to 139,272. This was an increase of 1,026 in a week, since 537 of the cases were listed as injuries, sicknesses or deaths of a nonbattle nature.

Admits Playing Role Of Modern Robin Hood

DETROIT (AP)—A modern Robin Hood was on probation today, Joseph A. Clark, 45, pleaded guilty in recorder's court to stealing 23 pairs of shoes and distributing them to needy friends.

Judge Gerald W. Groat ordered him to repay the Regal Shoe Co. $228.75 and fined him $50.

Grand Jury Wants Air-Conditioning

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A circuit court grand jury wants an air-conditioning unit in the worst way.

The jury complained it must work in sweltering temperatures in the Municipal Courts Building so yesterday, to prove its request, for a unit is well founded, the jury issued polite subpoenas to city officials to come "see for themselves."

As Jury Foreman Robert M. Guion puts it:

"There are only a couple of broken-down fans in there, and when we open the windows to get some air, street noises make it difficult for us to hear witnesses."

Will Try Catamaran Trip Across Atlantic

GREAT NECK, N. Y. (AP)—Yves Bertranet, a French engineer, took to the open seas last night in a 15-foot catamaran, made of two canoes joined side-by-side under a single deck and equipped with a sail.

Bertranet, 33, expects to sail and drift to France in 40 to 60 days. The craft carried 50 gallons of water, 90 boxes of rations, collapsible life raft, flares, books and navigating equipment.

Ike, Rebuffed In House, Has Hope In Senate

WASHINGTON, July 23.—President Eisenhower, rebuffed in the House, looked to the Senate today to restore to foreign aid funds some of the $1,100,000,000 cuts he says are too deep.

The House ignored the President's late-hour plea last night and approved without major change a total of $4,438,678,000 in new foreign aid funds for the year which started July 1.

Eisenhower had requested $5,138,922,227, some 2½ billions less than recommended by former President Truman.

House approval was by a 288-115 rollcall vote. The appropriation was supported by 128 Republicans, 159 Democrats and 1 Independent, with 82 Republicans and 33 Democrats voting against it.

Before the final vote a solid bloc of Republicans beat down six Democratic-supported attempts to raise the total. A few hours earlier Eisenhower had told a news conference that the reductions were too heavy for America's own security.

The House upheld its Appropriations Committee in making cuts of $690,834,132 in new money and in ordering the administration to return to the Treasury $414,896,298 from past foreign aid appropriations. It also authorized the administration to spend $1,758,019,179 carried over without commitment from past appropriations.

The reductions lopped 800 million dollars from available unpledged funds for global military aid and 300 million dollars from economic and technical assistance.

An attempt by Rep. Coudert (R-N.Y.) to impose a 5½ billion limit on spending was defeated on the ground it would actually mean a further cut in the bill. The administration plans to spend $6,800,000,000, largely for previously ordered military equipment.

GOP leaders made no concerted attempt to fight for more money, although a small group of Republicans sponsored all the amendments to restore cuts.

The key House vote came on a proposal by Rep. Javits (R-N.Y.) to restore all 312 million dollars sliced from new funds for military aid to Europe. The amendment was defeated 102-41 on a standing vote, with only 13 Republicans supporting Javits.

FFA and 4-H Contests Opening Day of Fair

FFA and 4-H shows will be held on Saturday, Aug. 22, opening day of the Missouri State Fair with a parade of livestock in front of the grandstand on Sunday.

The management of the State Fair for years has realized the importance of junior agricultural exhibits and through the work of the 4-H and FFA Departments, exhibits have become so numerous that ample space is not available to house them and all livestock exhibits must be crowded into a one day show.

In these two junior shows is a complete fair within a fair paralleling the open class competition in practically every division. Here, too, are the farmers, stockmen and senior exhibitors of tomorrow, the best assurance that the state of Missouri will long maintain her high agricultural rating in the Union.

To Ski at 90 Degrees?

CHAMPLAIN, N. Y., July 23.—Customs inspectors here laughed when an Alabama tourist told them he was on his way to ski in Canada's Laurentian Mountains north of Montreal.

He didn't know the mountaineers were sweating in a 90-degree heat wave.

Missouri Cities and Towns Going After New Payrolls With Funds

KANSAS CITY, July 23.—Outstate Missouri cities are out to get as many baskets as possible for their economic eggs.

Cities that for years were content with a railroad division point, a college, a state institution, or an industrial plant located because of raw materials, are stepping out at never before to attract new industries.

The advantages of new industries are obvious. More payrolls, more business. And then there is the view that such businesses will serve as economic buffers should the surrounding agricultural economy be hard hit. Cities also recognize that some plants, milk processing for example, are of benefit not only to the urban but rural areas as well.

One city after another has adopted the technique of organizing under various names, industrial development companies or corporations. Essentially they raise a fund, build or acquire a plant and then lease the facilities to incoming industries.

Among the cities with going development organizations, or in the process of organizing are Nevada, Kirksville, Booneville, Sikeston, Columbia, Carthage, Moberly and Sedalia. Others have active industrial bureaus or their chambers of commerce.

Typical of these activities are those at Moberly, Booneville and Kirksville, which either have or are getting plants of the McGraw Electric Co. of Chicago.

The firm opened a plant at Moberly last November, moving into a plant obtained by the Moberly Development Co. It employs about 200 workers.

At Booneville, the local industrial corporation is erecting a plant for McGraw, after raising $200,000. The plant will be leased for 10 years at an annual rental of $14,000. Officials figure that will be enough to pay taxes, insurance, maintenance, interests on notes and dividends. In addition the McGraw company will take over an unused plant as a warehouse.

From 250 to 300 will be employed. Kirksville is in the midst of stockpiling drive to erect a building for another McGraw plant that will have a payroll similar to that in Booneville.

This industrial boom in the state takes in dozens of various types of industries. They include fertilizer, clothing, metal working, paper and wood products.

But one of the boomiest is chemicals, and for good reasons. One is that the Missouri and Mississippi rivers provide one of the largest sources of fresh water supply in the nation. And the chemical industry is one of the largest users of water.

James D. Idol, senior industrial engineer for the Missouri Division of Resources and Development, points out that it takes 300 pounds of water to produce one pound of cellophane.

He predicts a rosy industrial future for the two rivers in the next few years.

In the total industrial growth in the state in 1952, chemicals ranked next to defense plants in manufacturing. Highest in the non-manufacturing line was utilities—a good index of how utilities are gearing up to meet the demands for power and fuel.

In the fertilizer line recent additions include the $8,000,000 project in Mexico for the Lange Brothers of St. Louis. Plans for the plant include an $800,000 building on a 55-acre tract east of the city.

The W. R. Grace Co., an international industrial and trading firm, is in the process of acquiring the Thurston Chemical Co. of Joplin. Plans call for concentrating all fertilizer, agricultural insecticide and farm equipment stores now operated by Grace at Joplin. The Thurston Company opened a 25,000 ton commercial fertilizer plant at Trenton last year.

A glance at how the state's cities are reaching out for more industries shows:

Cape Girardeau, which raised $85,000 through a community industrial fund several years ago to bring in a dress manufacturing plant, is planning to raise an additional $25,000 for the erection of a plant to house the Flour-Wooden Box Co. of Minneapolis. Funds for the plant would be supplied in this way: $45,000 through the Chamber of Commerce, $12,000 by the company and the rest from the industrial development fund.

Sikeston, which has not added a new industry in five years, organized the Sikeston Industrial Development in March with the purpose of raising $200,000. Plans are to sell stock to as many individuals as possible, thus showing that the community is behind the effort to attract industries.

The Carthage Chamber of Commerce has approved a proposal for a $15,000 industrial development foundation. Several sites for new industries are under consideration. Since World War II, 22 additions have been made to existing plants and 11 new industries added.

Rumors of new industries pop up almost daily at Springfield where the Lilly-Tulip Cup Corp., opened a midwestern plant a year ago. Work began this week on an addition. Kraft Foods Co. is constructing a cheese plant of 200,000 square feet.

St. Joseph is literally bursting out at the seams with new industries, many brought there as a result of its Industrial Development Corp. Since 1945 the city has added about 2,500 new jobs with an additional payroll of about $7,500,000. One of the recent arrivals is the Wire Rope Corp. of America with a payroll of nearly $10,000,000 a year. Another large one is Noma Lites, Inc., a firm making Christmas tree lights.

Sedalia's improvement Association is raising $110,000 for a site and building to be occupied by the National Manufacturing and Engineers Co. The same method was used three years ago to bring in Home Builders Corp., a firm making prefabricated houses.

Nevada has completed organization of its industrial development corporation with authority to issue $150,000 in stock.

A Macon Chamber of Commerce committee is working on plans for Government Settles Hannigan Tax Claim

ST. LOUIS, July 23.—The government has settled a tax claim against the estate of the late Robert E. Hannigan for $45,857.

Hannigan, former chairman of the Democratic National Committee and former postmaster general, died Oct. 6, 1949.

The action was disclosed in the third annual settlement filed by executors of the state filed in probate court yesterday. It showed that income tax overpayments and interest totaling $4,662 had been allowed by the Bureau of Internal Revenue, reducing the estate's net payment to the government to $41,195.

The settlement, which included taxes due and interest, was on 1948 income. Payment was made last May 1.

FOOD FOR CERMANS—Although Russia and the East German Communist government spurned the U. S. offer of free food for hungry East Germany, the first shipment was sent anyway. Here crewmen maneuver a cargo sling into a hold of the freighter American Inventor. It's part of a cargo of 2400 tons of flour, beans, lard and dried milk to be expedited, under MSA supervision, to the border of the Soviet Zone "in case" the Communists change their minds.

Electronic Car Steers Itself, Passes Slower Cars, Avoids Crashes

NEW YORK, July 23.—Maybe there's a rosy tinge to your driving future. A laboratory car at RCA's David Sarnoff Research Center in Princeton, N. J., can:

1. Steer itself along a prescribed route.
2. Stop when it approaches a metal obstacle.
3. Turn out to pass a slower car.

According to an announcement yesterday about the five-foot electronic auto, you'd have no driving worries at all, including being cracked up by careless drivers.

Rockefeller Money For Education Runs Out

NEW YORK, July 23.—After spending nearly $16 million dollars, the General Education Board of the Rockefeller Foundation is retiring from an active role in education.

Dean Rusk, president of the 51-year-old board, announced yesterday that this year the fund is spending the last $5,607,460 allotted to it.

The whole system involves electric cables under specially constructed highways, with electronic equipment controlling the steering gear and picking up wave impulses from the cables.

Predict Close Vote on Jet Bomber Funds

WASHINGTON, Sen. Maybank, (D-SC) predicted today "the vote will be close" on his proposal to give the Air Force an extra 400 million dollars for jet bombers—an issue senators on both sides agreed would be a test of Senate strength on the administration's defense budget.

Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich.), floor manager for the 34½ billion dollar military money bill, voiced confidence Maybank's move would be beaten.

A small group of Democrats is actively fighting to increase the new funds for the Air Force, cut by more than five billion dollars by the Eisenhower administration from the budget recommendations of former President Truman.

"If they pass that one, the gate is open," said Sen. Russell Long (D-La.), who is opposed to Maybank's proposal. It would give the Air Force money to buy 200 additional B47 jet bombers, capable of delivering atomic bombs.

Numerous other amendments were pending when the Senate, after 12 hours of steady work, recessed overnight. Republican leaders had hoped to finish work on the bill last night but finally gave up the effort.

A roaring dispute over whether areas of high unemployment should be given preference in the award of defense contracts, as they have been in the past, took most of the time and energy.

Maybank, in the Senate Appropriations Committee, attached a rider to the defense measure to ban the practice.

Sen. Saltonstall (R-Mass.), chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, led the effort to kill the rider but lost, 62-25.

The lanky New Englander, from an area with a high unemployment problem, argued that this had been a government policy for several years. He said President Eisenhower, during his campaign, pledged its continuance in New England.

Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.), explaining he was not speaking for the administration or as acting majority leader, assailed the award

WASHINGTON (AP)—Approximately a third of the supply of gamma globulin expected to be available for mass inoculation use against paralytic polio this year has already been distributed.

Figures gathered today from the U. S. Public Health Service showed it went to 11 communities where sharp outbreaks of polio have occurred since mid-June. Officials said they could not estimate how many other sharp outbreaks might still occur, and hence how far the further supply for mass inoculation might go.

But they said in interviews that only a little over a month remains until the time when polio ordinarily reaches its peak. After that, any need for mass inoculation programs might be expected to drop off.

Since mid-June, a total of 1,023,390 cubic centimeters of gamma globulin—medicine's best bet so far for preventing paralytic polio—has been used or made available for mass inoculations in 11 communities in Alabama, North Carolina, New York, Illinois, Virginia, Tennessee, Michigan and Kentucky.

This amounts to about a third of the 3,500,000 c. c.'s slated to be available for mass preventive programs. These programs constitute only one phase of the use of gamma globulin against polio, and only 33 per cent of the expected overall supply for polio this year has been earmarked for such use.

The major portion of the total supply—57 per cent—has been allocated for inoculating family and other close contacts of actual polio cases. The remaining 10 per cent has been set aside for research and special purposes not defined.

He said it was the same as pushing business and industry for low bids and then telling those in surplus labor areas: "Take a peek at this bid and if you can match it, we will give you the bid."

Sen. George (D-Ga.) assailed use of defense contracts for unemployment relief as certain to lead to favoritism and then to corruption.

Triple Jet Ace Jabara Is Home For Second Time

TRAVIS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—Maj. James A. Jabara, America's first jet ace and one of only two triple jet aces, is home from Korea for the second time today—a little worried because he is slated for a desk job.

Two years ago the 23-year-old son of a Wichita, Kan., grocer shot down six Red MIGs in Korea and then wrangled permission to go home and down nine more. He confessed.

"I'm really sweating this one out—I don't know what I'll do in an office."

The much-decorated Jabara flew in yesterday evening. A short time later he left in an Air Force jet for Las Vegas, Nev., en route home to his wife and two children at McKinney, Tex.

A short, dark smiling man who dutifully puffed on a big cigar for photographers, Jabara was deadly serious when he discussed his 163 missions in Korea.

MIG pilots, he said, didn't seem to be lacking any in experience or numbers, but recently they haven't been as aggressive as two years ago. Now, United Nations pilots have to hunt diligently for them, and often the Reds break off combat and take sanctuary north of the Yalu in Manchuria.

U. S. pilots, Jabara said, have been taking special care in avoiding the Yalu for fear of disrupting the truce talks at Panmunjom, and have thus lost several good chances to down the Communist jet fighters.

Only when it came to his future did Jabara show any hesitation. He is bound for duty with the 32nd

Maternity Dress Is His Sport Shirt

PRESCOTT, Ariz. (AP)—Clothing apportionments were confused in a Prescott household today.

A woman, returning home from a shopping trip, saw her husband working in the garden and wearing a pajama-like shirt.

"Why are you wearing that top?" she inquired.

"Isn't that the new shirt you made for me the other day?" he countered.

"Goodness no!" the wife exclaimed. "It's the top of my maternity dress."

Highway 50 Assn. Plans, Program Told for Kiwanis

What the "50" Highway Association is doing to make the traveling public conscious of this scenic route was explained to Sedalia Kiwanians by Eugene Fryhoff, president of the association, Warrensburg, at the club's meeting in Bothwell Hotel Thursday noon.

The speaker, introduced by Program Chairman Dan Robinson, reviewed the formation of the Highway 50 Association in Missouri, its alliance with similar associations in other states and the promotional program and membership drive now underway.

Ernest Freyman, secretary of the association, and owner of the El Rancho Motel, Sedalia, was also present as a guest of George Dugan. Other guests were: L. A. Pharris Jr., Washington, D. C., with his father, L. A. Pharris; Andy Anderson, Kansas City, with W. P. Hurley, and C. F. Homan, Clyde, O., with his father-in-law, George H. Scuton.

President William Ward reminded the members to attend the Little League game between the Kiwanis and Rotary teams at Liberty Park at 8 o'clock Friday night.

Cattlemen Put Cattle Support Prices Up to Ike

WASHINGTON — A group of cattlemen from southwestern and western states put before President Eisenhower today a request that the government support cattle prices.

The delegation, representing the newly formed United Livestock Producers Association, was accompanied to the White House by senators from Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Colorado.

In a statement given the President, the cattlemen said: "We believe that the only way to stabilize the cattle industry is for the government to support prices at 90 percent of parity as the secretary (of agriculture) is now authorized by law."

S. E. (Eck) Brown, head of the organization, told reporters the President was sympathetic and "realizes our problems." He said Eisenhower had promised to give the cattle price situation study.

Price supports would mean the government's standing ready to buy cattle at a price below the market price, but above 90 percent of parity. Parity is a figure calculated under farm laws as fair to producers in relation to prices of things they buy.

In the present price structure, 90 percent of parity would be about $18.90 per 100 pounds, on the average, for cattle. The Agriculture Department's latest report on cattle prices gives the average market price as $16 per 100 pounds in mid-June.

Judge Orders Ouster of Fulton Safety Official

FULTON — Ouster of Woodrow W. Lewis as Fulton's commissioner of public safety was ordered today by Circuit Judge Lawrence Holman of Moberly.

The ouster had been requested in a suit filed by Tom L. Edson, city marshal, who claimed Lewis had usurped the powers of his office. Lewis was named safety commissioner June 27, 1952 under a new city ordinance creating the post. He has been a member of the police department since 1947. Edson has been a member of the department for 27 years and is serving his second term as marshal.

Judge Holman also directed Lewis pay the court costs of the case and recommended that the city council repeal the ordinance setting up the safety commissioner.

In his testimony Edson brought out that E. H. Morgan, chairman of the city council's police committee, had called the force together and in the presence of both the marshal and the safety commissioner had told them that Lewis was to be in full charge of the police department.

The ordinance had given to Lewis all powers formerly held by Edson, except those of firing and caring for prisoners and collecting court fines.

Circuit Court

The completion Wednesday of the sale of a 120-acre farm north of Beaman to A. C. Leftwich, 903 South Kentucky, and the subsequent partition of the money paid to the 71 persons who claimed shares in the property, brought to an end a friendly suit which involved heirs at law scattered from Watertown, N. Y., to the Pacific Coast.

The sheriff's report of the sale was examined and approved by the Circuit Court Wednesday, and the sheriff was ordered to make distribution of the money according to the interests set forth in the suit petition. On Thursday morning, he acknowledged delivery of the deed to the purchaser.

The suit, filed March 26, was brought by Grace Smethers, one of the 71 heirs of Charles, Leslie Wilson, original owner of the property, died Feb. 12, 1952, without leaving a will. He left no children, brothers or sisters, and his wife had died previously. The result was that his estate went to the brothers and sisters of his father and mother, along with their descendants. Despite the large number of heirs, there are only three generations involved.

Grace Smethers, the plaintiff, is the only daughter of one of the mother's deceased sisters. She thus inherited 1/4 of the property. Other heirs inherited interests as small as 1/748 of the property.

Named as defendants in the suit were the other 70 heirs, 44 of whom are Missouri residents. Sale of the property saved all 71 a legal tangle.

State Investigators Preparing Charges On St. Louis Office

ST. LOUIS — Attorney General John M. Dalton said today his investigators are completing preparation of evidence against one St. Louis County office involved in a break-down of law enforcement in the county.

The attorney general, a Democrat, was in Jefferson City today but was expected to return to St. Louis County tomorrow for another first-hand view of the situation.

Hollis M. Ketchum, state liquor control supervisor, said before leaving for Jefferson City yesterday that his drive against illegal liquor sales in the county is not complete and that agents still are in the field.

Ketchum directed two series of raids on St. Louis County taverns Monday and Tuesday nights.

Paris Crook Gives Women a Big Lift

PARIS — For the past two years a mysterious crook has made some of the handsomest hauls from women living in or visiting apartment buildings in the luxury districts of Paris. His technique is both new and original: it is known as the "elevator holdup."

At the last count his victims numbered over 200.

Here's how he operated in a typical case: Madame Odette Lauer had an appointment with her doctor who occupies an apartment on the third floor in an expensive district. The elevator suddenly stopped midway between the second and third floors. Mme Lauer vainly attempted to get it moving — up or down.

At that moment a well-dressed man appeared outside the grill and advised: "Don't get panicky, madame. This often happens. I'll help you jump down."

Opening the door with a pocket knife, he then said: "Hand me your purse and your umbrella. It will make it easier for you." She did. He vanished.

The "elevator crook" is a handsome, soft voiced man in the thirties. He always wears a well-cut brown or gray suit and carries a light overcoat over his arm. He usually operates between 3 and 5 p. m. His favorite hunting grounds are around the Champs Elysees, Passy, Neuilly and the Opera. He is never violent and women have no hesitation in handing over their belongings to him.

He always refuses to take their furs.

MoPac Uses Old Tracks For Last Time; Built During the Civil War

ST. LOUIS — The Missouri Pacific Railroad's Poplar Street tracks near the St. Louis riverfront, originally built in the year the Civil War started, were used today for the last time.

A special train carrying public, civic and railroad officials made the last trip over the short section of tracks before their abandonment in favor of a 14-million-dollar elevated line.

The switch is being made to eliminate dangerous grade crossings at Seventh, Sixth, Fourth, Third and Second Streets and Broadway.

Mayor Raymond R. Tucker, speaking at ceremonies marking the event, expressed hope that other projects to eliminate grade crossings will follow.

The Poplar Street tracks were built by the Army in 1861 from Ninth Street to the levee, to permit transfer of supplies from the Mississippi River to railroad cars. The tracks were taken up after the Civil War but were relaid in 1870 by the old Pacific Railroad.

Committee Will Call Methodist Pastor to Testify

WASHINGTON — The House Un-American Activities Committee today voted to call the Rev. Jack R. McMichael, Methodist pastor at Upper Lake, Calif., for questioning next Thursday. It has received testimony that he was a Communist.

Chairman Velde (R-Ill.) told reporters a subpoena for McMichael was approved by a unanimous vote. He declined to say whether next Thursday's hearing would be an open or closed session.

Velde said the committee deferred action regarding Dr. Harry F. Ward, a former Union Theological Seminary faculty member. It also has received testimony that he was a Communist.

Rep. Clardy (R-Mich.) disclosed Tuesday night, while the group was questioning Methodist Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam, that McMichael and Ward had been described as Communist party members in secret testimony received by the committee earlier.

McMichael denied to reporters that he had been a Communist. Ward could not be reached. His home at Palisades, N. J., said he was vacationing in Canada.

Oxnam was questioned for nearly 10 hours. The committee adopted a motion then that there was nothing in its record which showed the bishop was affiliated with communism.

Robber Believes In Paying Debts

CHICAGO — Herbert E. Marsh, 35, believes in paying his debts.

Police said Marsh told this story yesterday after he was seized on a Minnesota fugitive warrant.

On July 10, he and Donald Boltman, 34, of St. Paul, Minn., robbed Dr. C. J. Olson, a Hastings, Minn., dentist, of $3,200. The two men divided the loot, then Marsh gave Boltman an extra $900 as an emergency loan.

"He said he would return the money the next day," police quoted Marsh as saying, "but he ditched me. That really hurt me. I didn't think one man could do that to another."

Meanwhile, Marsh kept thinking about the $100 he owed the credit union of a printing firm in suburban Melrose Park, Ill., where he formerly was employed. He resolved not to follow the other man's example.

He went to the printing plant to repay the loan. His former boss, informed earlier by police that Marsh was hunted, talked him into paying another debt—in society.

Marsh called police and was waiting at the plant when they arrived. They quoted him as saying, "I'm ready to take my punishment."

Police said Boltman was seized earlier in Minnesota.

Holden, Sugar Creek In Wins; Redbirds Play 332nd Tonight

SAFB Team Goes Out of Tourney After 2nd Loss

Thursday Schedule
8 p. m. — Jeff City Redbirds vs. 332nd Engineers
Friday
8 p. m. — single game, teams depend upon Thursday's outcome

By Dick Wade
Superior hitting and fielding enabled Holden's Chiefs and the Sugar Creek Athletic Club to notch their second victories of the Missouri Semi-Pro Baseball Tournament Wednesday night at Liberty Park.

The Chiefs handed the Knob Noster Merchants their first loss of the tourney, 5-1, and Sugar Creek battered Sedalia Air Force Base, 15-4.

The loss was the second in the double-elimination meet for SAFB, and it joined Ionia and the Jefferson City Twines in the ousted list.

Holden jumped on Knob Noster starting pitcher Harold Gumm for three runs in the first inning, enough to sew up the ball game. Manager Stub Roberts led off with a single to left, he went to second on Tom Meany's sacrifice and scored a moment later on Bill Delich's double to left. The second and third runs of the frame then came across when Jim Griffin slammed one over the scoreboard.

The Chiefs picked up an unearned tally in the fourth when Ray Uniak got a life when the catcher missed a third strike and Relihan and Pitcher Hank Geritz followed with singles.

The fifth Holden run came in the ninth as result of three Knob errors.

Walker Drives In Knob Run
Knob Noster got its only tally of the evening in the fourth on a lead-off triple to deep right by Russell Gilmore and Bus Walker's solid smash to center.

The losers missed two scoring opportunities in the third and fifth. Jack Slocum doubled with one down in the third, and Bus Livingston doubled with one away in the fifth, but both threats collapsed as Geritz "bowed his neck."

Gumm turned in a creditable performance after the first, allowing eight safeties, fanning four and walking three. Geritz, however, more than matched him, striking out 11 and giving up only two free passes.

Roberts and Relihan had two hits each for Holden, as did Gilmore and Walker for the Merchants.

Sugar Creek had an easy time with the Air Base nine, building up such a lead that the tilt was called at the end of seven frames.

The Airmen scored two in top of the first on a walk to Frank Singleton, a three-bagger to the right-field wall by Art Wilson and a long fly by Bill Bainbridge.

The winners roared back, however, with six and from then on it was strictly a matter of time.

Doult Clouts Homer
Johnny Doult, the Sugar Creek shortstop, got the big blow of the first, a homer over the left-field wall at the foul line.

Sugar Creek counted three times in the second once in the third, three more in the fifth and two in the seventh. SAFB made single runs in the second and sixth.

Sidelights On State Semi-Pro Tournament at Liberty Park

By Dick Wade
Here are the standings of the teams still in the tournament:

W.	L.
Springfield	2 0
Holden	2 0
Whiz Kids	1 0
Sugar Creek	2 1
Knob Noster	1 1
332nd Engineers	1 1
Jeff City Redbirds	1 1
Vess Sodas	1 1

Ionia, Sedalia Air Force Base and the Jefferson City Twines have been knocked out of the tourney, suffering their allotted two losses.

Two players, both of whom were hit by pitched balls, were injured so severely that they had to leave games Wednesday night.

Red Weiss, the Knob Noster catcher, suffered a snapped right elbow when clipped by one of Hank Geritz' fast ones, and Ted Deschamps, the SAFB right fielder, received a mashed hand when a slider, thrown by John Yuhus, nailed him.

It wasn't enough that Bill Bainbridge's SAFB team was ousted Wednesday, in the first game a foul ball broke the windshield of his car, which was parked behind the grandstand.

Russell Gilmore, the Knob Noster infielder, recently obtained his release from the Richmond, Va. team in the Class-B Piedmont League. Prior to that he played with Paris, Ill., in the Mississippi-Ohio Valley League in 1932, Ardmore, Okla., in the Superior State League in 1931, and Ponca City in the KOM loop in 1949-50.

Gilmore had five hits, including a homer, triple and two doubles, in this tourney before his team lost out.

It took exactly one hour to play the first two innings of the Sugar Creek — SAFB game.

Shantz Twirls Browns Back With 11-1 Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Has Bobby Shantz returned to his winning ways for the Philadelphia Athletics?

He looked the part in twirling the St. Louis Browns into submission last night at Busch Stadium. The pint-sized A's southpaw allowed only five scattered hits, fanned eight and walked two to lead his mates to an easy 11-1 victory.

It was Shantz' first complete game since May 4 and his fourth victory against seven defeats this season.

The Browns bunched two of their hits in the second after a walk to score their only run. Shantz, who has been bothered by arm trouble, allowed only one extra-base blow, a double by Jim Dyck in the ninth.

Dave Philley and Cass Michaels hit homers for the A's. They bunched five of their runs in the fifth on Michaels' homer, two Brownie errors, three singles and a wild pitch.

Brownie starter Duena Pillette was the loser, his sixth defeat against four victories.

In New York the Giants climbed back into fourth place as they defeated the Cardinals, 6-5, on the strength of a two-run ninth inning rally.

Alvin Dark's long single with the bases loaded drove the winning run across after Whitey Lockman had singled in the tying run.

Dave Koslo, last of three Giant hurlers, was credited with the win. Cliff Chambers, one of four pitchers used by the Birds, was the loser.

Yesterday's Games—American Loop Race Closer Than National

When the "break up" boys take a look at today's major league standings they may want to consider switching leagues.

Instead of crying "Break up the Yankees" as they have for years, they might find it more appropriate to start chanting "Break up the Dodgers."

Today, for the first time since May 17, the American League has a closer pennant race than does the National League.

Brooklyn's steadily moving Dodgers lead Milwaukee by 5½ games. The New York Yankees own only a 4½-game bulge over Chicago.

The Dodgers took a big stride forward last night by outclassing Chicago in a double-header 9-3 and 11-1 as Milwaukee bowed to Philadelphia 6-3.

The Yankees frittered away a full game of their lead by losing to Cleveland 6-4 for the second straight night after the White Sox headed Boston 1-0.

The Dodgers have won 10 of their last 11 games with the single misadventure coming against Cincinnati Sunday.

The Yankees on the other hand have had their ups and downs recently, reaching their high point with two brilliant victories over Chicago Sunday and then falling off immediately against Cleveland.

Brooklyn combined excellent pitching, usually a rarity in Ebbets Field, with its normally heavy hitting to humiliate the hapless Cubs, Johnny Podres, a rookie left-hander, struck out 10 and gave up six hits in his second complete major league game. Veteran Carl Erskine allowed only four hits and also struck out 10 in the nightcap.

The Dodgers combed Chicago pitching for 24 hits including two home runs by Gil Hodges, who drove in seven tallies.

At Philadelphia the Phillies jumped on Warren Spahn for four runs in the first inning and the Braves couldn't catch up. The opening attack featured a two-run homer by Grady Hatton. It was Spahn's fourth loss against 12 victories.

The Yankees tried to win it early in Cleveland but their pitchers didn't have staying power. The Indians trailed by three runs after three innings. Then they got to Whitey Ford for a pair in the fourth on a home run by Joe Mauer and took the lead in the fifth on a homer by Dale Mitchell and doubles by Al Rosen and Larry Doby.

But the story at Chicago was almost all pitching as Virgil Trucks scattered four hits and let only one runner get as far as second. Mel Parnell, ace of the Boston staff, hurled his best game yet, too, but one hit, a triple by Chico Carrasquel to open the fifth inning, ruined him. Chico hung on third while Trucks grounded out but he scampered home when Nellie Fox lofted a long fly to center field.

The only other American League action was in St. Louis, where Bobby Shantz of the Philadelphia Athletics, last year's most valuable player in the loop, won his first game since May 3, a five-hitter over the Browns 11-1.

In the National League the New York Giants and St. Louis Cardinals swapped positions again when the Giants edged the Cards 6-5. Cincinnati at Pittsburgh, —Nuxhall (4-6) or Perkowski (7-7) vs. Dickson (7-12).

Milwaukee at Philadelphia —Liddle (4-3) vs. Miller (2-3).

WEDNESDAY'S RESULTS
New York 6, St. Louis 5
Pittsburgh 3, Cincinnati 2
Brooklyn 9-11, Chicago 3-1
Philadelphia 6, Milwaukee 3

Sports Roundup—Talk of Covered Ball Parks Begins Again; Maybe Just Talk

By JACK HAND
(For Gayle Talbot)
NEW YORK —News that a Philadelphia fight promoter is going to cover his outdoor ring to make sure the show will go on, rain or shine, started the boys talking covered ball parks. It's an old story, revived every now and then, but never considered practical.

They talked of it again yesterday at Madison Square Garden, where they unveiled the gaudy new $35,000 aluminum ring to be used for outdoor shows. Lionel Levy, the designer, did most of the gabbing.

"It's not commonly known," he said, "but we were all set to put a roof over the entire Polo Grounds years ago. Back in the days of Tex Rickard."

"We were going to use suspension cables strung cross-cross over the field, sort of a bridge construction. The idea was to use some light fabric for the covering."

"But something happened to the money, and we never went through it. Maybe it was just as well. Boxing was real big in those days and postponements cost a great deal of money."

"I suspect that the day of the big crowd is gone. Nobody can afford to build a big arena now, unless it is subsidized by a community. Television is here to stay."

"A few years back, Mayor Hague of Jersey City commissioned me to design an arena for football and boxing that would seat 110,000. That never went through either."

"As far as roofing a ball park goes, I don't think it would be worth while. The ball clubs don't lose too much money on rain. They don't even bother to carry rain insurance. They can always play some other day. And, with only one outdoor fight in a year, it certainly wouldn't pay for boxing."

Levy is proud of the expensive new ring that replaces the one he designed for the late Mike Jacobs years ago. The old ring, first used the night Max Schmeling knocked out Joe Louis, cost only $8,000. Twelve men were needed to put it up and take it down. It cost a fortune to transport it to Philadelphia last year when the International Boxing Club was promoting its important shows there.

"Eight men can put this up in six hours," he said. "At the present rate that means about $100. It can be carried anywhere in the country without too much trouble."

KANSAS CITY —Cary Middlecoff begins his scrap for a third straight title in the Kansas City Open Golf Tournament today against a field that includes most of the nation's better shooters.

Middlecoff won the last two of the four tournaments here in play-offs. Lloyd Mangrum, the 1950 champ, is considered his toughest foe for the 72-hole meet ending Sunday.

The 6,500-yard Milburn Country Club course hasn't proved too much of a test for the golfers in practice rounds the past two days. Par 72 has been comparatively easy for most of the good shooters.

The only big name players missing from the fifth tournament being played for Mercy Hospital for crippled children in Kansas City are Ben Hogan and Sammy Snead. Hogan is still celebrating his recent victory in the Open crown and Snead is ailing.

At least half a dozen of the outstanding professionals predicted the winner this time will shoot about 273, or 15 strokes under par. A couple said it would go for about 270.

Jackie Burke Jr., of Monticello, N. Y., who lost to Middlecoff in the playoff last year, and Buck White, of Memphis, Tenn., each shot the course in five-under-par 67s in the final warmups yesterday.

Middlecoff, Lloyd Mangrum of Niles, Ill., and E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of Ardmore, Okla., were among the other stars reporting their game as "par or better."

The long ball hitters were expected to far well on the hard, fast course. Al Bessink, of Grossinger, N. Y., won the $75 prize driving contest with a 299-yard job yesterday.

World's northernmost golf course is on the north shore of Hudson Bay, latitude 67, and the southernmost course on the Straits of Magellan, latitude 53.

Operation on Back Of John Waldorf Schoendienst Goes To Hospital for Rest

ST. LOUIS —St. Louis Cardinal second baseman Red Schoendienst was hospitalized last night for what the club physician called a "complete bed rest."

Schoendienst, who was hit over the left eye with a thrown ball in New York Tuesday, also had aggravated another injury, a torn abdominal muscle.

Dr. I. C. Middleman said it will be at least a week before the major league's leading hitter will return to action. Schoendienst has a .335 average.

X-rays showed there was no fracture and no damage to the eye ball. Ten stitches were required to close the wound.

Mr. Waldorf, commissioner of the Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association, has been suffering with his back for several years. He entered St. Luke's hospital last week for treatment and at the time he became a patient there decision on surgery had not been reached.

Mrs. Waldorf is with Mr. Waldorf. Mr. Waldorf was fullback and captain of the University of Missouri football team in 1929 and was a defensive ace on the Tiger cage squad two years. He has been a Big Seven football referee and official about two years. He is a brother of Lynn "Pappy" Waldorf, University of California football coach.

Football in the United States was at its lowest ebb in 1935, when the fate of the game hung in the balance due to the vast number of injuries, etc.

Rotary Strengthens League Lead Beating JCs; Elks Down Kiwanis

Rotary strengthened its lead in the Little League division Wednesday night by defeating the Jaycees 5 to 1 and the Elks took the measure of Kiwanis 5 to 3 in the other game.

Herrick, the Rotary pitcher, not only held the Jaycees to two hits, but also figured in all his own team's scoring. He had 3 for 3, including a pair of doubles, and scored two runs. Wilson got both of the Jaycees safeties, a single and a double.

The game was close until the last of the fifth when the rotarians rolled in three scores to put the affair on ice.

In the second game the Elks blasted away for five runs in the second, their only scoring inning, but the race around bases then, on five hits and a walk, was sufficient. They opened the game with three straight singles, yet failed to score.

Kiwanians, getting only two hits, scored one run in the second on a single and two walks and added two in the third on two errors and a base on balls.

Gates turned the win and Farris and Dotson shared duties for the losers. Kelly had the game's only extra base hit, a double.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. —The 15th Women's State Golf Tournament entered the quarterfinal stage today as strictly a Kansas City-St. Louis affair.

4 Home Runs Get T&C Win Over Columbia

Two home runs in the second and another pair in the run-filled fifth gave the Town and Country girls' softball team an 11-5 victory over the Columbia girls team in a game played at Center Park Wednesday night.

After they trailed 1-2 at the end of the first frame, Masters and Ables clubbed 4-baggers in succession for two runs in the second and from then on T & C was never behind. The Sedalians made the fifth their big inning, however, scoring 8 runs then on homers by Hanna and Masters, the latter's second of the night, safeties by Hanna, Olson, Walz and Ables, plus a walk and two errors.

Two errors and a walk in the first, as T & C got off to a shaky start, gave the Columbians two counters. After that the local team tightened up in the field behind the hurrying of Walz and the visitors were held scoreless for four straight innings. They counted one in the sixth on two hits and got the last pair in the seventh on a walk, error and single.

Hal Newhouser Gets Unconditional Release

DETROIT — Hal Newhouser, who piled up victories—and salary checks—at a terrific clip, leaves the Detroit Tigers with a painful pitching arm but many wonderful memories.

The 32-year-old southpaw, once the mightiest pitcher in the American League, if not the majors, was granted his unconditional release yesterday by the last-place Tigers, who are building for the future.

Thus ended a 15-year career in which Newhouser won an even 200 games (against 148 losses) and earned approximately $500,000.

Jack Homer, Tiger trainer, gave the tip-off on Newhouser a while back. Said Homer:

"Just watch Newhouser on the mound. When he fiddles with the resin bag or turns and looks at the scoreboard, he's not showboating. His arm is hurting and he's stalling for time, trying to relieve the pressure of the pain."

Newhouser, a 20-game winner four times, was troubled on and off by a sore arm and was of little help to the Tigers during the last three seasons. In 1951, his record was 6-6. Last year it was 9-9.

This season, he worked only 21 2-3 innings and had an 0-1 record. His earned run average was 6.91.

In Springfield, Ill., it is unlawful to walk on a fence without the owner's consent.

Stalcup to Head March of Dimes In State Again

COLUMBIA — Wilbur (Sparky) Stalcup, basketball coach at the University of Missouri, has been reappointed chairman of the Missouri state March of Dimes, Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, announced today.

As director of the 1954 polio campaign, Stalcup will supervise activities of thousands of volunteer workers throughout the state in raising funds for polio patient care, research and education.

"So far this year the nation has recorded more polio than ever before," Stalcup warned. "We are told to expect a bad year despite the advent of gamma globulin, a blood derivative which offers some protection against polio for a limited period."

Announcing the appointment, O'Connor wrote: "The fight against polio is beginning to show definite portents of victory. When the day arrives that we can stamp the word 'conquered' on this crippling disease, much of the credit will go to Coach Stalcup and other volunteer leaders like him. Encouraging are recent scientific advances have been, a tremendous amount of work remains before final victory."

Entering his second year as March of Dimes chairman, Stalcup anticipates a campaign which will raise over $1,500,000 in Missouri. He has coached basketball for 18 years, seven of them at the State University.

Bucceroni Wins With Bruised Fist

CHICAGO —It may be five or six weeks before Dan Bucceroni, the former Philadelphia butcher boy, again can start axing his way toward a heavyweight championship fight.

Dangerous Dan, with an 11 pound weight advantage —193 to 182—pounded out a 10-round unanimous decision over rugged Tommy Harrison of Los Angeles last night in Chicago Stadium.

Only 925 fans turned out for the nationally televised scrap, contributing to a net gate of $2,243.08. Each fighter received $2,500 from TV and Bucceroni took 25 per cent and Harrison 20 of the net.

Along about the fifth round, Bucceroni said he felt his right hand hurting. In the first round he ripped his right to Harrison's jaw and sent the Los Angeles Negro sprawling for an eight count.

Wobbly Harrison lasted out the round and managed to go the distance although twice he dazedly started for the wrong corner, after the seventh and eighth.

After the fight, Bucceroni found that the knuckles on his right hand were swollen and badly bruised. This will keep me on the shelf for five or six weeks," he said in his dressing room while soaking the injured hand in shaved ice.

Bucceroni, 25, fifth ranking heavyweight contender, was to be matched against Bob Satterfield in the next televised bout at the stadium Aug. 19. Harrison, 23, ranked No. 6, now may be signed as Satterfield's opponent.

Bucceroni also suffered a deep laceration on his right eyebrow in the seventh round. He said Harrison butted him.

"If you don't hurt Harrison in the first two or three rounds he works faster and faster," said Bucceroni. "If you're not careful you can punch yourself out against him."

Harrison, who bloodied Heavyweight Champion Rocky Marciano's nose in a sparring session, forcing a five weeks postponement of his fight with Jersey Joe Walcott this spring, thinks Bucceroni has quite a way to go before he can stand a chance with the titleholder.

"If Bucceroni can box and move through 15 rounds he might have a chance against Rocky," Harrison observed. "But I don't think he could—not right now, anyway."

Manager Don Battles says he is bringing Bucceroni along slowly and figures he will be ready for a championship crack—if Marciano is still the titleholder—in about two years. He has 43 victories in 46 pro bouts.

No Beer Sales During Illinois State Fair

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. —Patrons of the 1953 Illinois State Fair who want to cool off by quaffing a beer will have to bring their own refreshments.

Beer selling on the fairgrounds during the 10-day exposition Aug. 14-23 has been prohibited on orders of Gov. William G. Stratton. The governor acted after telling reporters he received complaints from church groups and parents.

"The ban doesn't mean a fellow can't bring it in a picnic basket," said Fair Manager James E. Tays today in explaining the prohibition. "We haven't intended to make a wet or dry issue of this."

Truck Freight Rates May Go Up In Missouri

JEFFERSON CITY — Truck freight rates may go up as much as 10 per cent on general shipping in Missouri next month if it could cost the shippers as much as $700,000 a year.

In a somewhat unusual decision today, the state Public Service Commission gave Missouri's common carrier truckers the right to increase rates 10 per cent on general freight—but it did not require that the increase be charged.

George Fox, the PSC's rate expert, gave this explanation for the departure from usual procedure. Last March, 34 of the larger trucking outfits asked the state utility regulating commission for the right to boost rates 20 per cent claiming it was necessary to meet increased operating costs, primarily increased wages.

But some of the other common carriers, generally the smaller out-state firms, said they didn't want the increase.

In its study, the commission figured the 10 per cent boost would cover present increased operating costs and so it limited today's authority to that amount.

But it said any company that didn't want to increase its freight rates didn't have to.

To make the decision uniform, the commission said that each company must give five days' notice that it was increasing its freight rates by 10 per cent. A deadline of Sept. 15 was set on the notices. Thus any company wanting to increase rates, but failing to file notice by mid-September, would have to follow the full procedure of filing a new rate schedule and having it go through the complete investigative procedure of the PSC.

The decision also authorizes the common carriers to charge a minimum of $2 (instead of the present $1.50) on any shipment of over 75 miles. The present minimum of $1.50 will continue to apply on all shipments of less than 75 miles.

The increase will not apply to special freight shipments such as gasoline, bulk products like sand, gravel or lime, or household goods, Fox said.

One Plant Attracts Another at Springfield

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., — How one industry tends to attract another is demonstrated in operations in this area.

Consolidated Products Company is a firm that manufactures industrial alcohol from whey, a by-product in the manufacture of cheese. It has a unit at Nixa, about 10 miles east of here, at the cheese plant of Wilson & Company.

When the Kraft Foods plant goes into operation here, Consolidated will bring a unit here to process the whey. The unit will employ 40 men, in addition to the 350 employees in the cheese plant.

"Rumble Seats" Rumble seats are so called because, in olden times when coaches were used, servants rode on the open back seat of the vehicle, which rumbled constantly while the coach was in motion.

Doctor, 80, Gets Job At Scout Jamboree

JAMBOREE CITY, Calif. —An 80-year-old retired Iowa physician accompanied his grandson to the Boy Scout Jamboree and then got himself a job at it.

"They guessed I was 65," Dr. J. Frank Aldrich said yesterday of his jamboree assignment as head of the Illinois Section Health Lodge. "But they figured I could handle the job even when I told them my real age."

Dr. Aldrich helped introduce the scouting movement in 1911 in Shenandoah, Iowa, where he practiced medicine more than 50 years. His grandson, Robin Bishop, 13, is a scout from Decatur, Ill.

Merry-Go-Round— Private vs Public Power: Big Administration Battle

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Governor Dewey has taken two tough defeats from Democrats in two presidential elections, but it was the Democrats who came to his defense last week regarding what they call the "give-away" of Niagara Falls power. Dewey doesn't exactly call it a "give-away" but, regardless of the terminology, Democratic senators, led by Chavez of New Mexico, blocked the "give-away" bill and gave Dewey a chance to testify against it today.

What Dewey wants is to have Niagara Falls power turned over to the state of New York for development. Many Democrats, on the other hand, want it turned over to the federal government. But both are opposed to the Miller-Capehart bill turning Niagara power over to a combine of private utilities.

This is the bill which I reported two weeks ago had been "rammed" through the House public works committee by Congressman Dondero of Royal Oak, Mich. The Buffalo Chamber of Commerce has taken issue with my reporting of these facts, pointing out that extensive hearing were held regarding Niagara going back even to 1951. This is true.

However, the final vote in Dondero's committee was unquestionably a "ramming" job. Regardless of previous hearings, it is highly unusual for a chairman not to give an important bill a final reading before a committee votes on it. Usually it is read line by line. This Dondero refused to do.

He also refused to read the letter from the budget bureau representing President Eisenhower's views, later bawled out the budget bureau for sending him the letter. For the letter opposed the Miller-Capehart bill and asked that Congress delay action until the federal power commission could make recommendations.

Dondero seemed so anxious to ram the bill through his committee that, when two congressmen—Blatnik of Minnesota and Kluczynski of Illinois arrived late — he refused to allow another vote so they could be recorded as voting "No."

Finally, at a later closed-door meeting, Dondero accused Congressman Tom Steed of Oklahoma of "leaking to Drew Pearson." However, he did not deny that he had rammed the bill through; he only complained that the story of his operations had leaked.

Result of the Senate delay to give Governor Dewey and New York state officials a chance to testify will be that no action on Niagara Falls power will be taken at this session. It may also mean that the Senate will launch a thorough study of various power projects including Bonneville Dam and Hell's Canyon in Idaho-Washington.

President Eisenhower, speaking in Boise, Idaho, during the campaign about a year ago, did not take a position one way or the other regarding federal development of Hell's Canyon; and his Secretary of the Interior, Gen. Douglas McKay, has vacillated. Speaking in Portland, Ore., last June McKay was quoted as favoring private development. Later he said he didn't want to get mixed up in the debate.

Meanwhile Senators Kefauver of Tennessee, Magnuson and Jackson of Washington and Morse of Oregon want a probe of McKay's proposed contracts turning Bonneville Dam power over to eight private utilities. All these issues—from Niagara to Bonneville and from the Tennessee Valley to Hell's Canyon, go to the bottom of the controversial issue of private vs. public power. It promises to be one of the biggest battles of the Eisenhower administration.

Butter and the U.S.N.

U.S. Navy is apparently going to be the last stronghold for butter eaters in America. Army and Air Force are now authorized to serve oleo-margarine to their troops, but not the Navy, where it's still against the law.

Serving butter to U.S. seamen goes back to the ration laws of 1795. At that time it was ordered that on certain days the men be issued "two ounces of butter or one gill of oil."

Issuance of an oil ration gradually dropped out, but in 1913, Franklin D. Roosevelt, then Assistant Secretary of the Navy, ruled that the use of margarine conflicted with basic ration laws.

In the last two years, bills have been presented in Congress to permit, but not require, the Navy to serve margarine. Dairy state congressmen have seen to it that the bill was killed.

Manners Make Friends—

When one woman invites another to lunch as her guest there shouldn't be any cause for arguing over who is going to pay the check. If you are the guest don't feel you have to make a grab for the check or insist on paying for your own meal. Accept the luncheon graciously and return the favor at some other time.

Check-grabbing isn't good manners when you have been invited to lunch or dinner.

Household Pets Are Not Likely to Cause Disease

By Edwin P. Jordan M. D.
Written for NEA Service

In a recent letter, Mrs. J. D. says: "Can children contract worms from pets? Our cat has worms, for which we are doctoring him, but the children played with him before we knew about it. Is there any chance that they may acquire these worms?"

These are indeed interesting questions. First it must be said that although cats as well as many other animals are quite susceptible to various kinds of parasitic worms, most of these do not cause disease in human beings. It is known, however, that various kinds of ringworms can be contracted from cats, and occasionally cats harbor intestinal worms which are able to attack human beings. It is possible, then, though not probable, that Mrs. D's children could become infected with worms, particularly if they were in the habit of kissing or nuzzling their pet.

Another disease which cats can occasionally transmit to human beings is known as cat scratch disease, or cat scratch fever. Rabies or hydrophobia has been found occasionally in cats, and a cat stricken with this disease is a serious menace to human beings. Tuberculosis is not common among cats, and there appear to have been few cases of human tuberculosis contracted in this manner. In mentioning these diseases which can be transmitted by cats, I do not mean to imply that these animals are a danger around the house since hundreds of thousands of people have cats as pets and never acquire any disease from them.

Same Problem With Dogs

The same kind of problem exists with regard to dogs. Dogs harbor a great many animal parasites, although only a few of them can cause human infection. Occasionally a dog tapeworm can be acquired from dogs by swallowing an infected flea. A skin condition called creeping eruption caused by a small worm closely related to hookworm infects many dogs. It passes directly through the skin and therefore dogs should be kept off bathing beaches where people go barefooted.

Animals should not be allowed to bite or scratch. People should not let them lick the face, and particularly the mouth, and should wash their hands after handling pets and before eating. Kissing animals is unwise. These precautions should be followed and pets showing signs of illness should be taken promptly to the veterinarian. On the whole, however, popular household pets are not important sources of human disease.

In-laws Who Visit and Stay All Evening Pose Big Problem

By RUTH MILLETT

A wife inquires: "Why don't you print a letter about the in-laws who are good and kind, but expect to be repaid by spending all their time with their children?"

"My husband's parents have a home of their own, but never spend an evening in it."

"Practically every evening they come to our house and stay until bedtime. My husband and I are so tired of it we don't know what to do. We don't want to hurt their feelings, but I feel they should have enough common courtesy to realize we would like a little privacy."

"They always say: 'When you folks are ready to go to bed just say so and we will go home.'"

"This has gone on for several years, ever since we have lived near them."

"None of our friends ever come to see us any more and I know it is because we are never alone and they don't feel free to come."

"What can we do about a situation like this? I'm afraid if my husband says anything to them they will feel they are not welcome to come at all and I don't want that. All we ask is a little consideration on their part. But how can we get it?"

Makes Difficult Problem

What makes your problem so difficult is that you have let a situation go on so long that it has become routine.

It is always easier to prevent that kind of routine from being established than to try to change it after it has become habitual.

But you might try this: Make a real effort to change your routine so that your parents-in-law will have to change theirs.

Start going out to movies in the evening or visit the friends who have been drifting away. Go bowling or to ball games, or whatever your town offers in the way of recreation. Get so busy that you can't sit at home entertaining your in-laws night after night.

If you keep that up for a few months, perhaps they will be forced to find some kind of activity to fill some of their evenings.

You've made it too easy for them to spend every evening with you. Now you'll have to do just the opposite to break the pattern.

No Income Tax

Puerto Rico will observe its first birthday as a Commonwealth in July. Congress made the island self-governing a year ago, without giving it statehood such as Hawaii and Alaska are now seeking. Under this arrangement, Puerto Ricans have all the privileges of American citizenship—without having to pay federal income taxes.

BOYLE COOKS UP NEW BLACK-EYE 'ALIBI—AP Columnist Hal Boyle ruefully casts a blackened left eye on a piece of his favorite food—watermelon—as he explains to fellow workers in New York just how he got that shiner. His love-turned-to-suspicion attitude is because, (HE SAYS), he recently tapped a warm watermelon and it blew up with a bang right in his face, a piece of rind hitting him in that shady orb. Hal Boyle's Column— Power of Final Decisions Has Kept Milady Ulcer-less

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (P)—Lady, do you have an ulcer?

If not, why not? Particularly, if you are in the business world, why not? Are you letting your own fair sex down by refusing to have an ulcer?

Men used to enjoy almost as much of a monopoly on ulcers as women did on motherhood. Not any more. In a century that believes in fair play for all, modern women are no longer denied the right to acquire ulcers as well as men.

Some experts believe ulcers are becoming increasingly common in both men and women.

But why? Are more men getting ulcers as a result of the fact they feel insecure because they have to compete professionally with women? Dr. Lawrence E. Hinkle, Jr., of the Cornell University medical professor, leans to this theory. And he added, "more women have ulcers now than when they stayed home and let their husbands make the decisions."

It seems to me that in this theory science stumbles and falls flat on its premises. Since when did women, merely because they stayed home and had babies, let their husbands make the major decisions? In what distant clime, what golden age of mythology, was this ever true?

The art of making up her husband's mind for him in important matters has been woman's most sterling virtue in all civilizations. It is this power of final decision that probably has kept her free of ulcers for so long.

My theory is that making decisions is less likely to cause ulcers than postponing decisions. This, of course, easily explains why men always have had more ulcers in the past. They got them from worrying while waiting for their wives to make up their minds for them.

But why, then, are both more men and more women getting ulcers today? Have modern women lost the feminine ability to decide? Are they adrift, confused, and muddled, thus dooming themselves and the weaker male sex that leans upon them to an ulcer-ridden future?

Not at all. Not for that reason anyway. Her invasion of the male business world hasn't befuddled woman. Nothing about men confuses a woman. At best it can only annoy her—but not enough to give her an ulcer.

I think one of the real reasons for the increase of ulcers lies in the spread of a new business cult known as "ulcer worship." The ulcer is less an ailment than a badge of success, the proof that a real go-getter has been ceaselessly going and getting.

Ulcer idolatry has reached such a point in some fields, notably advertising, television and movie-making, that anyone who works five years in these vineyards without developing an ulcer is regarded suspiciously as hopelessly shiftless, a secret malcontent, or a born showoff.

This has given rise to the false, or built complex, ulcer.

The boss has got a bad ulcer, and if I don't get one, too, he will start thinking I'm not doing my share of worrying. And sure enough, he comes down with an ulcer. You don't have to stand in line for them. They're free.

But there is a flat rule of thumb in such cases. If the boss has two

Beside the Laughing Water

A Romance by
LOUIS ARTHUR CUNNINGHAM

THE STORY: Lailah Grace had known Giles Wayland in London during the war. She had known he was married to his wife, Laila, and that he came from Canada. Now Lailah had herself in Canada teaching in a girls' school in the village in which Laila had lived. Laila was killed in action and his widow Laila was a teacher at the school. Fortunately Laila had known Laila as Laila Gray, the actress, in England.

IV
LAILAH felt that Laila Gray had been deliberately neglecting her all through the leisurely breakfast. She turned, though, and offered her packet of cigarettes and when they were finished, she smiled demurely when Lailah hesitated and looked at Miss Tait.

"Oh," she said softly. "We won't light 'em here. Taiter suffers from asthma and anyway you're not supposed to smoke within these sacred walls. Let's go out on the side terrace."

With a glance of her black eyes she drew Lailah with her and they went outside and perched on the warm stone coping of the flagged terrace. Lailah looked at her with cool appraisal, the full mouth smiling, and Lailah returned the look with one as candid.

"You know," said Lailah, "there's something about you that interests me—I don't know what exactly it is. Oh, don't think for a moment that I believe those cheaters you're hiding behind or that I subscribe for that hard-boiled."

"You're very frank."

"It's the curse of my life," she brushed Lailah's protest aside. "I can't help it. I'm wondering whether you and I are going to be friends or foes."

"Is there any particular reason why we should be either?"

"Well, yes. We're bound to work together on the school plays. I design the sets, that sort of thing. Another thing is that you're going to have my young daughter, Peg, in your English class and she's pretty sure to get a crush on you—that lovely accent of yours and that startled fawn effect you gave when you heard my name."

Lailah stared at her coolly. "You're assuming quite a lot, Mrs. Wayland. I was, I grant you, a bit startled. Shall we say—by your looks?"

"I wonder. And I think you could do a lot of startling on your own if you came out from behind the camouflage."

"Well, I have to teach school after all. When I'm going to a ball, I'll wear the proper dress. I assure you."

"Oka. I suppose it's different for you. They wouldn't put up with any high-jinks from their English prof. I don't live here, you see, and I'm pretty much a free agent. The Waylands endowed Edgemore and they've given it just about everything from indoor plumbing to an automatic toilet paper dispenser. Same thing with St. Bride's. And I'm a Wayland—after a fashion. I was married to their pride and joy, Giles. We got a divorce. He was killed in the war. I have his two children."

Lailah wondered if it would be a good thing for her to be as frank, to tell this woman of her relationship with Giles—and she decided against it. There was no use taking up that dead episode.

"If I didn't tell you, someone else would," Lailah swung her long lovely legs and studied the exquisite ankles with the Roman straps criss-crossing them. "I teach here because of the money. The Wayland Trust pays me an allowance for myself and Peg and Rowan, but it's not too much; they were always attached to the Royal Family."

"I don't see—"

"I mean the pictures on the banknotes. Old Jarvis was a millionaire but he used to ride down to Florida in a day coach to save Pullman fare. He never approved of me or the way I spent money, which helped to fuel things up between Giles and me. Giles was a swell guy, but it just didn't work out. He had hard luck with his women. He was going to marry another one in London and she ditched him too. He went to pieces. He always had a lack of resistance towards a bottle and he capitulated completely, said he wanted to meet the shell with his number on it—and he did."

Each word Lailah said seemed to sting and burn.

"I hope I haven't bored you, Lailah—lovely name. You seem to invite confidences but I love telling my life story to anyone who will listen to it. Gavin—"

"I should write it down and pass it out to strangers. You'll like Gavin—he's Giles's younger brother. He's just back from Korea—war correspondent with the Army. He's going to call here for me shortly. Tell me all about yourself."

Lailah laughed outright; Lailah joined her. "I can just imagine you letting down that back hair the way I've undone mine. You're an old friend of Archer Pen's, aren't you?"

"Oh, yes. We went to the University together. Do you know Archer very well?"

"Not so well as I'd like to. He had dinner with us once. He teaches Rowan at St. Bride's. Are you in love with him?"

"He's probably the best friend I have; he was instrumental in bringing me over here to teach. But in love with him—"

"You're not one of those cold, aloof women, are you?" Lailah deftly shot her cigarette butt in a long trajectory out onto the still sparkling grass.

What, wondered Lailah, would you say if I told you I had known love—in my husband's arms. Maybe it would jolt you out of that smooth, easy assurance of yours and give you something to think about—"

The World Today— Robertson's Calm Appearance

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (P)—Walter S. Robertson is a 59-year-old Virginian who comes into a room like a much younger man. He looks like one you'd pick, at first glance, for the job of calming people down.

That may have been a reason why President Eisenhower sent him to South Korea in June to talk to President Syngman Rhee. Another was the fact that he is assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern Affairs.

At the time, as he is now once more, Rhee was the biggest problem in the Far East. He was threatening to block a Korean truce. Rhee is an extraordinary man who needs more than ordinary handling. He got it from Robertson, now back here.

The trim Robertson looks like a relaxed and self-confident businessman, now vice-president of the man, which he was: an investment banker in Richmond until Eisenhower tapped him for the State Department.

But, unlike some other State Department officials, past and present, Robertson is neither ponderous nor afflicted with that vague and rubbery kind of talk which grows like weeds in the language of diplomats.

This is not Robertson's first job with the government but he was never a career diplomat. If he has one outstanding quality it would seem to be his realism. He does not sound like a man looking for a silver lining.

He had been head of the U. S. lend-lease mission to Australia in 1943 and 1945. In 1945 and '46 he had worked for the State Department in China, where he got to know intimately both Chiang Kai-shek and his Nationalist government, and the leading Chinese Communists who were out to wreck Chiang.

He was part of the special mission, headed by Gen. George Marshall, which tried to get Chiang and the Communists to live up to a truce. Robertson illustrated foresight later, in 1948, when he testified before a House committee on postwar foreign aid.

Chiang he described as a patriot, and he urged Congress to give him a lot of aid.

Otherwise, he said, the Communists would take China, which they did despite some U. S. help for Chiang. At the same time he made it clear he knew the Communists well.

"Some of them are my personal friends," he said. But he had no illusions about their intentions. He would have short patience with anyone who has the notion the Chinese Communists, like Yugoslavia's Tito, could be won away from Moscow. "They hate America," he said.

At the time Robertson went to Korea, Rhee had whipped himself and his people into a lather, threatening to fight the Chinese single-handed.

If Rhee was highly emotional, and even extreme in his position, it can be understood. He had devoted his whole life to one project: seeking independence for Korea, first from the Japanese and now from the Communists.

Robertson does not look upon Rhee as an eccentric. He considers him, as he considers Chiang, a great patriot, a man dedicated to his country.

Rhee was so emotionally charged that in his early meetings with Robertson—they had 12 altogether the Virginian let the old man talk for 30 minutes without interruption to talk himself into calmness.

When he had apparently convinced Rhee his best course was to go along with the United States, the two men signed an agreement, which has never been made public, and wrote a joint statement, which was:

The statement was so vaguely worded it must have been intentional, perhaps to avoid for Rhee anything which might appear, in the eyes of his countrymen, as a capitulation to the United States.

For that reason what followed, at almost the very moment the statement was being made public, seems inexcusably crude, thoughtless and boastful.

Someone connected with Robertson's party, or some other government agency in the Far East, told correspondents Rhee had made concession after concession and even had exclaimed to Robertson: "You have conquered me."

Top Military Men to Camp, Talk Strategy

QUANTICO MARINE BASE, Va. — The men who run the military — more than 100 civilians, generals and admirals — begin tonight a camp-meeting-style conference.

During the next three days they will live together, join in sports and talk serious business about American defenses, the Korean War and the Russian military menace. On Saturday they will be joined by President Eisenhower.

Secretary of Defense Wilson summoned all the top policy and administrative officials of the vast Defense Department to the meetings, to run through Sunday morning. Invited, too, were chiefs of other agencies whose work involves defense matters.

Among those who have accepted his invitation are Vice President Nixon, Budget Director Joseph P. Dodge, Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, Defense Mobilization Administrator Under Secretary Arthur S. Flemming, Under Secretary of State Walter Bedell Smith, Atty. Gen. Brownell, Chairman Lewis Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission and Director Allen W. Dulles of the Central Intelligence Agency.

The outgoing and incoming members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff will be present, with Gen. Omar Bradley, the present chairman, and Adm. Arthur Radford, the designated chairman, scheduled to make talks as part of the formal presentations by the Defense Department and each of the three armed services.

Wilson keynotes the meeting in an opening address at a dinner tonight. He has told friends in discussing the sessions here that: "This is a good way of achieving unification and cooperation; it's better than a directive."

It is Wilson's hope that each of the officials—many, like himself, new to the Pentagon and military matters—will get to know the others on a first-name basis. So the invitation that went out emphasized the informality of the occasion, saying:

"Comfort rather than appearance will be the rule, and none of the activities will call for formal attire. . . . It is hoped, not only in the interest of getting some wholesome exercise and fun but also in becoming better acquainted with the other men who will be present, that you will participate in the various activities and friendly competitions which are arranged for."

Wilson, himself a golfer, has set up a tournament, with handicaps. But behind the social aspect of the Quantico conference looms the deeply serious matters which military men must consider.

Here Wilson will have opportunity to explain directly to the generals and admirals how he thinks the national defense system can be maintained and even built up with a reduced military budget.

His Court Plea Gets Innocent Ruling, But He Goes Back to Pen

TULSA, Okla. —Buster Youngwolfe, 21, went to prison today even though he was acquitted in the slaying of a neighbor girl, Phyllis Jean Warren, 11.

Youngwolfe, a paroled convict, testified at his trial he could not have slain the girl, as charged by the state, because he was drinking beer in a tavern at the time the girl was believed to have been strangled.

District Judge Elmer Adams revoked Youngwolfe's parole yesterday because of the testimony. Loitering in a tavern violates Oklahoma probation rules.

Hacksaws Window Bars Under Eyes of the Law

TOLLAND, Conn. —Every day for three weeks William T. Lanan, 29, a New York state parole violator held in county jail here, hacksawed a little on the bars of a jail window.

He finished his job yesterday but was trapped by the sheriff and a band of onlookers.

What Lanan didn't know: The sheriff had somebody watching him the whole three weeks.

Sails From England To NY in 32-foot Yawl

NEW YORK —It was a long shot for British bookmaker Colin L. Fox, but he made it.

Two years and 11 months ago he set out from Lynton, England, in his 32-foot yawl.

He berthed his craft at a pier here yesterday.

Fox said he lost a year's sailing time in Morocco, where he ran out of money, the British West Indies the boat ran on a reef and it took 50 days for hull repairs.

Three Accidents In 4 Blocks Just Too Many

OKLAHOMA CITY —Traffic Judge James Benopolis observed that three accidents in a four-block stretch are just too much and fined Andrew Robert White, 28, of Tulsa, $80.

Officers said White's car side-swiped two parked cars, crashed into a service station office, then jumped a curb and plunged into a concrete embankment.

White pleaded guilty but professed ignorance of the accidents, telling the judge: "I work up in Tulsa."

Snake Barbicues Self, Cuts Town's Power

EUFULA, Okla. —A chicken snake barbecued himself for nearly two hours and knocked out electrical power to two eastern Oklahoma towns last night when he wrapped his 4½-foot length around a 68,000-volt transformer.

Service was restored to Eufula and Checotah when crews located the trouble at a substation north of here.

Bob Thomas In Hollywood--

Filming a Broadway Show, Use 3-D and Wide Screen

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD — Would you like to see a Broadway show on the movie screen?

I don't mean a film version of a stage hit. I mean a musical filmed almost exactly as it was presented on Broadway at $7.20 top. A group of independent movie makers are gambling that moviegoers will buy such an attraction.

Wide-screen and 3D will be added to make the show seem more lifelike.

Clay Powell Is Injured In Car Fall

By Myrtle Yarnell

He was riding with Kenneth Stewart and Jack Spencer. The door suddenly opened and he fell out, breaking his nose and receiving painful bruises. He was a patient at St. Joseph Hospital, Booneville, until Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Volcort. He will be unable to work for some time.

Dr. Lindstrom Asked To Give Paper Before Scandinavian Doctors

PITTSBURGH — Dr. Peter Lindstrom, chief neurosurgeon at Aspinwall (Pa.) Veterans Hospital, has been invited to give a paper before the Scandinavian Neurological Society in Helsinki, Finland, Aug. 29-30 on advanced research he has been conducting.

Dr. Lindstrom, former husband of screen actress Ingrid Bergman, has been studying a method of controlling pain with supersonics, an announcement by the Addison H. Gibson Laboratory at the University of Pittsburgh said yesterday. That will be the topic of his paper.

HST Weathers Rough Plane Ride With Ease

PITTSBURGH —Former President Truman looked like a man stepping from a barber's chair instead of a storm-tossed airplane last night.

Mr. Truman attended the funeral of ex-Secretary of Labor Maurice J. Tobin at Boston yesterday. The plane he boarded at Boston for his return home to Independence, Mo., ran into a severe thunderstorm which prevented it making a scheduled landing here for 45 minutes.

When the plane finally landed for its brief stopover, Mr. Truman was the first man out. And to newsmen who asked him if he had worried over the delay, he remarked with a grin:

"Why, I didn't even know we were delayed."

Plan to Enlarge Ike Museum at Abilene

ABILENE, Kan. —Plans are under way to enlarge the Eisenhower Museum and expand the activities of the Eisenhower Foundation.

Kansas Gov. Edward Arn and other officials met in Abilene, the President's boyhood home, yesterday and mapped the construction of a second wing for the museum.

The main tower and one wing have been completed. President Eisenhower has promised to make available a large part of his million-dollar collection of souvenirs for the museum.

No date has been set for opening the museum.

The subject of this unique experiment is "Top Banana," the raucous hit based on the thinly disguised adventures of Milton Berle in TV. The musical ended its road show run in Los Angeles three weeks ago and has been moved where it will be filmed as it played to theater audiences.

The movie will have the same sets, the same costumes and the same cast, headed by Phil Silvers. Sole change: Rose Marie has been brought back to her original comedienne role, replacing Kaye Ballard of the road company.

The only other changes are in some of the dialogue and action. The profanity and a few shady scenes were taken out because of censorship requirements. Also, the strip tease number has been toned down.

I arrived on the set as the entire cast was running through the first act in a dress rehearsal for the cameras and lights. The players enacted their roles against the usual backdrops of the show. They sang the songs to prerecorded playback or went through them without accompaniment if the recordings were not available. The show moved breezily along in a manner unlike other movies, which are done in bits and pieces.

The entire film will be shot in a speedy four days!

Veteran director Al Green, who filmed the Tolson and Cantor biographies, is directing "Top Banana." He said it's not as easy as it looks. When I mentioned that the actors ought to be well rehearsed in their parts by now, he replied:

"Not exactly. All of the cast have been out of the show for three weeks, and Rose Marie has been out of it for a year. Besides, they can't do the show exactly as it was done on the stage. The movies require less projection, less playing to the rear of the house."

Although the show will be filmed in its entirety, it presents technical problems, he added. Lighting will not be easy, particularly in 3D, which requires hotter lights. He said the camera will not remain stationary, but will roam around and even go in for closeups.

"What about the strip tease?" "We have to modify it a little," he admitted. "You can't do a 'Bump' toward the audience. But you can do it sideways, which is almost as good."

Film audiences will be given the feeling of the theater, Green said. Opening shots will show the audience coming into the theater and the orchestra playing the overture. Otherwise, the entire show will take place between the arches of the stage.

Three Owners Oppose K. C., Frisco. L. A.

NEW YORK —Realignment of baseball's major leagues to take in Kansas City, Los Angeles and San Francisco is strongly opposed by at least three owners.

The possible shift of several franchises to populous areas now supporting minor league ball has been a red-hot issue ever since the Braves were transferred from Boston to Milwaukee with marked increase in gate receipts and the American League refused the Browns permission to move to Baltimore.

Del Webb, co-owner of the New York Yankees, suggested at the recent major league meetings in Cincinnati that the American League transfer the Browns and the Philadelphia Athletics to Los Angeles and San Francisco.

And earlier this week The Sporting News baseball publication, reported Bill Veeck's Browns are due to leave St. Louis for Kansas City.

Power reports had the Phillies moving out of Philadelphia if the Athletics don't, with either Los Angeles or San Francisco as their destination.

To these reports came answers from owner-president Bob Carpenter of the Phillies; Roy Mack, executive vice president of the Athletics and Clark Griffith, president and owner of the Washington Senators.

"I'm here to stay," said Carpenter. "If Webb thinks the Pacific Coast is such a swell place to have a ball club, let him move his own club out there and stop trying to run my business."

"One of the troubles with big league baseball now is that international bankers and guys who get 10 million dollar federal building contracts are trying to tell everyone else how to run his business."

"Let them attend to their politics and contracts and let me struggle building a ball club. I don't tell them what they should do and I don't welcome their advice on what I should do."

Previously, Mack said the Athletics were going to remain in Philadelphia.

Griffith got into the discussion and expressed disapproval of suggested plans to shift the Browns to Kansas City.

"It's not that I have anything against Kansas City," said Griffith. "It's just that they're not in our circuit geographically. I don't want any change that will increase our traveling difficulties."

Griffith added he thought the American League should extend its territory no farther west than St. Louis, pointing out there are several cities such as Baltimore and Minneapolis that would be interested in taking over the St. Louis franchise.

Cape Agulhas, which extends some 39 miles farther south than the Cape of Good Hope, is the southernmost point of Africa.

Has $750,000 Bill For Boy Scouts' Food

JAMBOREE CITY, Calif. — Any housewife can appreciate what O. B. Evenson was up against when he was told to arrange for the feeding of 45,000 hungry boys.

If not, his grocery bill of $750,000 may help put the point over.

Yet, when the last meal at this third National Boy Scout Jamboree is served, Evenson says he will be disappointed if he has more than $6,000 worth of food (or only .08 per cent of what was purchased) left over.

Tonight's meal, the last while the jamboree is officially in session, will cost $22,032. The boys are getting steaks.

Search Woodlands For Missing 5-Yr.-Old

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa. — Relatives and a few volunteers searched heavy woodlands near this southwestern Pennsylvania town today for a missing 5-year-old girl who is mute and partially deaf.

Mr. and Mrs. Casey Bowers told police their daughter Emma was last seen about noon yesterday.

Witnesses Set All-Time Record In Attendance At World Assembly

NEW YORK —An all-time attendance record of 132,811 was set yesterday at the World Assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses, the fourth day of the religious sect's eight-day meeting.

Officials said the count included 76,186 persons inside Yankee Stadium and 56,625 reached by loudspeakers in nearby lots and by direct telephone wire to a public address system at Trailer City, New Market, N. J.

The attendance announcement came after a day of convention activity featuring what was termed the largest mass baptismal service of modern times.

Using an upper Manhattan swimming pool, a dozen ministers baptized 4,640 men, women and children.

HERE'S WHY

MFA Mutual auto liability insurance is best for you under the new Driver's Financial Responsibility Law that goes into effect August 29.

If you are in an automobile accident covered by the new law, to keep your drivers license and license plates you can:

1. Deposit security which may be as high as $12,000. If you deposit security, you may have to pay it all in damages.
2. Present your MFA Mutual auto liability policy. Your MFA Mutual policy is your proof of financial responsibility and MFA Mutual pays for you.

Purpose of the new law is to protect you from irresponsible drivers.

Don't wait till August 29. See your MFA MUTUAL AGENT Today.

BEWARE OF AUGUST—August is the year's worst traffic month, according to the National Safety Council, and it will pay both pedestrian and driver to be extra careful. This photo was taken in West Bend, Wis., after a truck ran over a child riding a bicycle. Insert chart shows highway deaths by month for 1952, which reached their peak in August with 2890 deaths. This was 28 per cent higher than the average 1952 month. And for every traffic death there were 35 injuries. Main reason for the increase is that more cars than usual travel the highways during August, but another factor is what the National Safety Council calls the "vacation attitude."

May Ask Rainmaking Program in Colorado

DENVER (AP)—Colorado's Legislature may be asked next January to finance a state rainmaking program.

The matter will be studied next Tuesday when the State Weather Control Commission meets. The group plans to ask Gov. Dan Thornton to make an investigation of claims of rain-inducing firms.

The plan has been proposed as a way to forestall future drought.

New Office Building Planned for NY Center

NEW YORK (AP)—A 45 million dollar office building is being planned for midtown Manhattan.

The project, announced yesterday, calls for a 42-story building occupying the entire block bounded by 41st and 42nd streets and Lexington and Third avenues.

Dislike Flying
Birds prefer not to fly. They fly to obtain food and to escape from their enemies. Birds living in regions free from carnivorous animals tend to lose their flying ability.

As Cold War Winds Blew Chillier, Life In Russia Was Changed

EDITOR'S NOTE — Eddy Gilmore, for 11 years an AP correspondent in Moscow, is back on "the right side of the iron curtain," as he expresses it. In this story, third of a series to appear here this week, Gilmore gives a glimpse into Moscow life as foreigners used to live it, and as they have lived it since the cold war developed.

By EDDY GILMORE

PARIS (AP)—The cold war started, and a frigid wind began to blow from Joseph Stalin's Kremlin, cooling off any faint hope of American-Soviet cooperation and growing friendship. The air from Washington wasn't exactly warm, either.

It would be incorrect to say that Americans in Moscow, even during the greatest moments of wartime political talk, were ever howlingly popular with the Communist government. But we were with the people and compared to what happened later, we led a charmed life.

I left an official party at 2:20 one morning, arm in arm with a man who is now a marshal in the Soviet army. With other Russians and foreigners from some of the embassies, we journeyed to my apartment.

This high military man, once inside my modest place, lit the candles, turned down the lights and sat down at the piano and played until dawn. It all seemed not very unusual then.

Another time I found myself at a big Russian dinner. More than 60 persons at one long table. I seemed to be the only foreigner present.

"Eddy Eddyovich," said my host, "I've found something for you."

He proudly whipped out a bottle of Scotch.

A little dark man near me, who looked like a party type, shuddered. He looked around him with what I thought was considerable suspicion, and turned to a major general in the Soviet army.

"Comrade General," said the party type, "Scotch whiskey (Shetlandsky viskey was the way he said it in Russian) may be all right for some people, but I prefer our Russian vodka, don't you?"

The general, who had a stout hooker of shetlandsky viskey in his right hand, gave him a cold stare. "No," he said, "I'm not that chauvinistic."

You invited Russians to your apartment and some of them came. Some of them invited you to their places. You found yourself at real Russian parties that must not have changed over the years. And there were lots of Russians about.

You liked the people and they seemed to like you.

I'm not referring to the small group of Russians who had been approved for contact with foreigners. They were always about, polite, often charming, good conversationalists, but nevertheless, people we felt were unduly interested in what we were saying and commenting on. I'm referring to just plain Russians, and some who were anything but plain. But not approved people.

Foreigners could travel into the countryside in all directions from Moscow, and while it isn't exactly the French Riviera, it offered some good swimming spots which were especially nice after parties in summer.

And there were the Gypsies. The best Russian parties, I believe, must have Gypsies, at the end of the evening. Like champagne at the end of the dinner. Well, we had them back in those days.

Then one morning, after a very fine party, there was a "veliki acendal." A bad show. An incident. A junior member of the American embassy (not on the diplomatic list) was taking a Gypsy girl home in a taxi, I believe. He reported she resented his advances. The paper blamed American boorishness and a lack of respect for women.

Now I admire Gypsies almost as much as any people in the world and I've been around a few in these days. I think the American must have handled his case badly. Or that he was framed, because I've never heard of gypsies writing in the paper about such private things.

Then there was the case of another young American whose automobile was rammed from behind by a Russian car. He got out and there was a large argument and when the Russian started to drive off, the American smashed in one of his side windows.

These were signs of the times. The cold wind blew colder. No Gypsies at parties. Very few Russians at parties. Then no Russians at all at parties. Then no Russian friends.

Travel restrictions were clamped on all foreigners. The diplomatic rate of 12 rubles to a dollar was reduced to 8 to a dollar and then came the money reform and it was 4 to a dollar. This wasn't, and isn't today, an exchange rate. It borders on confiscation.

As the wife of a former American ambassador, Admiral Alan G. Kirk, so aptly put it, all the foreigners were thrown up on a raft together.

Some couldn't stand it. One day a young attaché at the embassy told the ambassador:

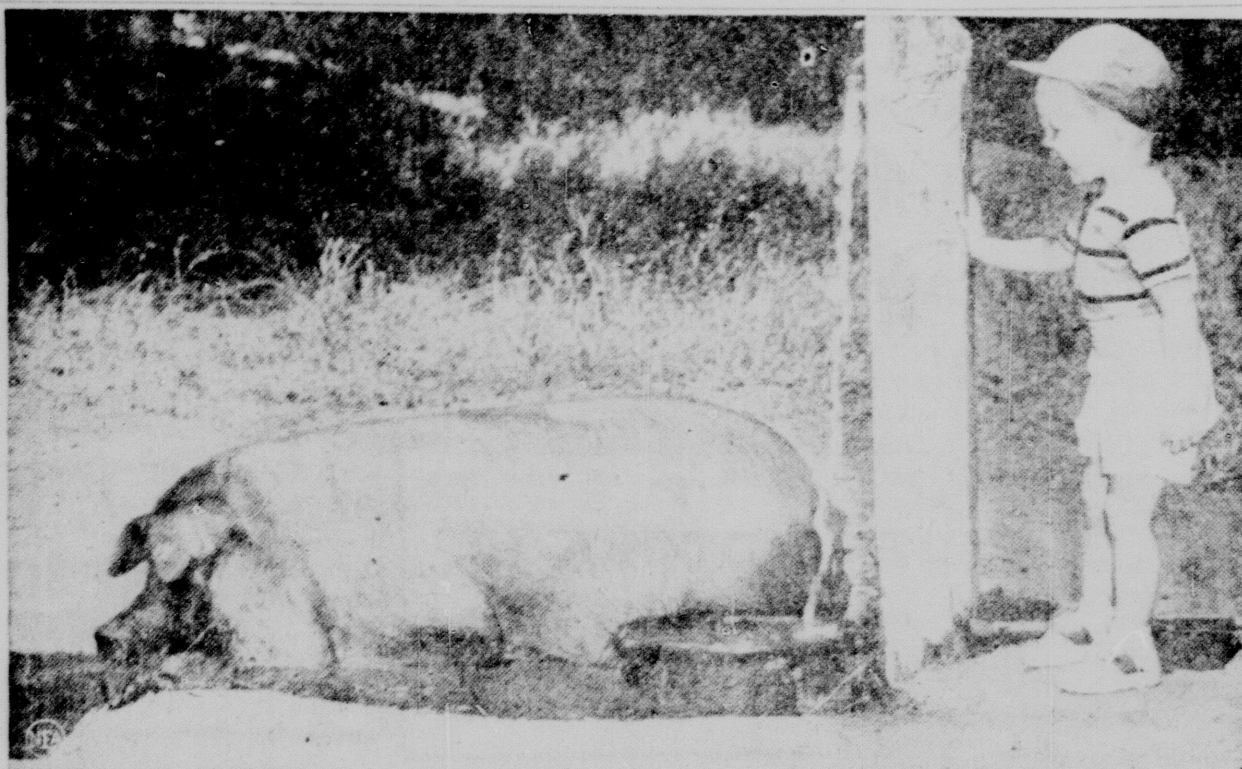

"They almost got me last night. They tried to push me out of the window."

In a few days he was on his way home. A Norwegian shot himself one night. A young man from the British embassy ran amok in the Metropole Hotel's dining room.

Two embassies found microphones on their premises. They didn't appear to be new ones, but they were rigged up with wires. We talked in even softer whispers to one another. And people complained bitterly about life in Moscow. That's just a sampling of the cold war. TOMORROW: Who's running Russia now?

NO SWEAT—Little Conrad Imhaus, of San Francisco, finds it hard to believe, but this big Duroc pig is not taking that mud bath for fun or as a beauty treatment. Pigs don't perspire, so covering themselves with mud is the only way they can keep cool when the weather gets hot. The Duroc will be a 4-H Club entry in the California State Fair in September.

Safe Food Carriers, Bug Killer Make Outings More Enjoyable

Pleasures of summer picnics are increased if the outing is simple, casual but well-planned. A big wicker basket totes food and utensils. Young couple's melamine plastic tableware, chosen for its good looks is well-suited for picnic outings because it is virtually unbreakable.

BY KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

Pack up the picnic basket and seek the cooler breezes of the park, woods or shore. That's the theory.

Actually, many of the picnics I've been party to are spoiled by too much fuss and bother in preparation, stomach upsets, plagues of insect pests or a scratching good case of poison ivy.

If picnics are to be as much fun for mother as the rest of the family, food should be simple and plans casual. Fortify the family with a good insect repellent, and train everyone to have a healthy regard for any three-leaved plant.

You don't need special equipment. I've found that a big wicker basket with a homemade draw-string liner carries almost everything. Galvanized pails insulated with layers of newspapers work just as well as more expensive containers to tote iced beverages or hot casseroles.

New melamine plastic tableware gathered off the kitchen shelves is well suited to the outing, because it's practically unbreakable. Insulated plastic-lined ice buckets are my choice as a cold food carrier. Potato salad, thoroughly chilled in the refrigerator and then packed into the unbreakable bucket, stays safely cold. Besides being tasteless, lukewarm salad dressings are fine breeding places for bacteria that can cause stomach upsets.

Handy aids on a picnic as well as at home are the new, two-wall tumblers, which combine a removable inner liner of plastic with an outer holder of aluminum. They keep lemonade icy cold longer, thereby conserving the ice supply. I use plastic refrigerator storage boxes with tight-fitting covers to carry relishes and such. The boxes stack neatly in the basket, and they don't leak.

Most effective way of warding off the mosquitoes, chiggers and flies waiting at the picnic ground for you is the liberal use of a good repellent. Repellents which contain solutions of dimethyl phthalate and ethyl hexanediol are especially recommended by medical authorities. To find out whether a repellent contains these unpronounceable chemicals, read the label.

One repellent comes in a spray-topped container which is useful for spraying clothes, the picnic table or the grass. These repellents are safe to use on children, but make sure they can't rub the stuff in their eyes, because the repellent around your ankles, waistbands and sock tops — all favorite chigger biting areas.

Almost everybody, including myself, thinks she knows what poison ivy looks like. I learned the painful way that ivy doesn't always present a shiny green face and climb on walls. The little poisoners that caught me were plants about eight inches tall. Poison ivy is consistent in that it has leaves with three leaflets, but it may show up as vine, shrub or plant. Especially in strange territory, it's wise to be suspicious of any three-leaved plant.

Decorative reinforced fiber glass ice bucket has a polystyrene liner. On picnics it makes an excellent carrier for foods that must be served cold.

This Is Farm Safety Week—

Benton County Has Reason To Observe Safety Week

By Mrs. Herbert Hansen

LINCOLN — If "Farm Safety Week," which was designated by President Eisenhower to begin July 19, applies only to those of us who live in rural communities, then it might well be applied to each of the 9,702 individuals who go to make up Benton County's total population.

Lincoln, Cole Camp and the county seat, which is located at Warsaw, on the Lake of the Ozarks, are the largest towns in the territory.

Of the 9,702 population, 6,600 actually live on farms, according to O. V. Singleton and Mrs. Elizabeth Drake, county and home agent of Benton County.

The county's most important crop, "its children," amounts to 2,000 between the ages of 6-18 years and their safety is the all important concern since statistics show more persons are injured at home than away from home.

There are so many little things which mothers can do to help to safeguard their homes and families. Among these are: Keep medicine, matches, sharp pointed instruments, such as scissors, knives, pencils, etc., out of reach of curious groping little fingers. See that toys, roller skates and such are not left on stairways for members of the family to fall over in the dark. If your floors have to be waxed, see that only rugs with rubberized backs are used or that the others are fixed "not to slip" when stepped on. Sewing ordinary rubber jar rings to the corners on the underneath side, will do the trick. Don't leave children in the house alone as stoves so often take this opportunity to explode. Keep tubs of water out of reach of toddlers. Your own safety will be guarded, too, if the backs of dark cellar steps are kept painted a gleaming white. This will show you at all times where the next step is. You might also save yourself, as well as others in the family, serious burns by always making sure that handles of skillets and pans in which foods are cooking on the stove, are kept turned with the handles pointing to the back of the range. Avoid standing on boxes or chairs to reach up on high shelves. Rather, invest in a good sturdy stepladder made especially for these purposes.

Children are always fascinated by holes or corners in which they may crawl and hide away, so see that these particular places have handles on the doors that may be used to open them from the inside or better still, remove the doors from such "traps" as old cupboards or refrigerators that need be kept. Store them in sheds or garages.

Forbidding children to play on streets or ride on farm machinery, especially tractors, considered by them a special treat, will often prevent grief.

There is no such thing as being too cautious and these are only a few of the many things which mothers and homemakers can do to add to the safety of loved ones. Remember, "It's always better to be safe than sorry."

Speaking of accidents, at least two or three have occurred in this immediate community just recently. The three year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Roark was quite painfully injured about two weeks ago as the result of a fall suffered while running with a stick in her mouth. The object inflicted a wound in the child's throat which required treatment by a physician and Ronnie Swearingin, 11 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Swearingin, fell down several steps at his home Saturday night. His fall resulted in three dislodged teeth. Some of which were permanent ones.

A calf weighing around 350 pounds and owned by Ronnie's father lost its life when it fell in a well full of water. The well's

Cash Premiums Total $207,968 for Fair

Cash premium awards being offered by the Missouri State Fair total $207,968.50, the largest in the fair's history.

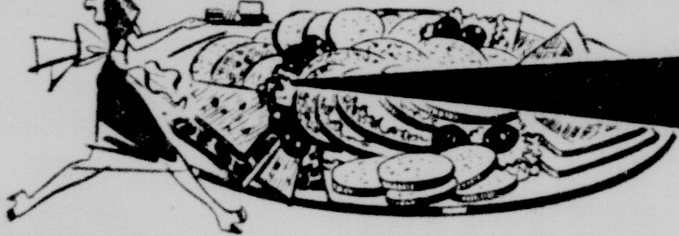

A detailed distribution to the 28 divisions is itemized on page 23 of the 1953 premium catalog that were mailed from the State Fair office this week.

The premium awards are liberal and early indications are that the number of exhibitors in all departments will be larger this year and competition keener.

The premium catalog, carrying a complete listing of classes in each department, is available to addressing a request to Rollo W. Singleton, secretary, State Fairgrounds, Sedalia.

'Batter Up' for Baseball Party

INDOOR BASEBALL PARTY for youthful fans includes baseball cakes and fruit juices for the table and "quizzle" games for play.

BY GAYNOR MADDOX

NEA Food and Markets Editor

Baseball and eats—that's the formula to keep boys happy in summertime. But when it rains, what? Then give them an indoor baseball party. There's a new baseball "quizzle" book that combines quiz and puzzle technique to dramatize the high points of the great American game. Our youngest boy, aged 8, and his friends pore over it for hours.

How about "eats"? Well, you can make realistic baseball cakes that will thrill the youthful big leaguers. And, of course, hamburgers or hot dogs and soda pop belong in this big game party, too.

Baseball Cakes

Use pound cake, white cake or angel cake, made with a mix or by your favorite recipe; or buy the cake ready made. Cut pound or white cake into two-inch cubes. With a small knife carefully round off corners. Save the scraps of cake for a pudding.

With a teaspoon pour fondant frosting over the "baseballs." When the frosting is hard, "paint" the lacings on each ball with a clean water color paint brush dipped in red food color. Be sure the frosting is dry before applying "paint."

If you use angel food instead of pound or white cake, break the angel food into cubes and pull off a bit at each corner to make balls. Cover with fondant frosting in the same way.

Fondant Frosting—For cooked fondant frosting, make fondant according to any standard recipe; blend two or three teaspoons of

Speller's Calls Will Echo Across Midway

"This way, Ludeez and Gentlement," the fatigued raucous cry of the speller will echo up and down the long midway of the big fun zone of the Cettin and Wilson Shows which will be at the Missouri State Fair, Aug. 22-30. All the thrills and chills of this gigantic Midway will supply spine-tingling excitement for the fun seekers. This year the Carnival that has brought pleasure to Fairgoers for the past two years will open their stay in Sedalia with the newest and latest types of rides and new equipment. "Bigger and better after the storm," said the management of this Carnival, "we're back with more fun, more thrills, and better shows."

hot water with one cup fondant placed over hot water to soften. Pour it over the cakes when it has reached the consistency of thin cream.

An easier frosting is uncooked; just mix cream with sifted confectioners' sugar until thin enough to pour from a spoon.

Here's my wife's formula for hamburgers. All the kids in the neighborhood say they are just as good as a home run. Allow 1/4 pound freshly ground or top round for each "player." Shape the meat into slightly flattened balls. The trick is to handle them lightly and to keep the meat loosely packed.

Heat a heavy iron pan—get it searing hot. Do not grease it. Sprinkle pan lightly with salt. Slap the hamburgers on to the pan, cook about 2 1/2 minutes, then turn and cook 2 minutes on the other side. Serve on bread or rolls with a pat of butter on each hamburger.

Cookies Cheer Kids' Summers

"THE BESTEST," kids will say about these fruited cookies.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Rocking on the verandah, swinging in the hammock, cutting out clothes for paper dolls. Sun peeping through the awning, blue sky stretching out yonder over our front—yard Caragana hedge.

Our Mother's voice from the cool shade—darkened house.

"We're having butter cookies and fruit cup, make a place for the tray!" You run to open the screen door. "Call the other children," she smiles. You're at the front gate, yoo-hooing down the street—the sweet crumbliness of the rich butter cookies already on your tongue.

But that was years ago when we were very young. No one calls them verandahs any more. Most of the rockers are gone, rarely you see a hammock. And will any cookies in the world ever taste as good?

Such nostalgia! Time to shake ourselves out of the past! Time to try a new butter cookie recipe! Fruit cup, make a place for the tray!" You run to open the screen door. "Call the other children," she smiles. You're at the front gate, yoo-hooing down the street—the sweet crumbliness of the rich butter cookies already on your tongue.

Roy Parker Gives Sermon In Clarksburg

By Myrtle Yarnell

CLARKSBURG — Roy H. Parker, retired major general of the Army and his wife and their daughter, Carlene Liberty, were here Sunday. Mr. Parker delivered the two sermons. An old fashioned picnic dinner was enjoyed in the annex at the noon hour.

Herbert H. Kneisley, Ridge Crest, Calif., spent Friday night with his sister, Mrs. C. D. Yarnell and Mary Maxine.

Herbert Fulk took Mr. and Mrs. Edd Crawford and Mrs. Bessie Fulk and Mrs. Stella Hael to the home of John Crawford at Hinton Monday and they visited there until Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Crawford and Sharon Kay, Lawrence, Kan., recently visited relatives here.

Rosa Lee Allee came Thursday and took Mr. and Mrs. Edd Crawford, Mrs. Bessie Fulk and Mrs. Stella Hael to church services at Union Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Harrellson, Sedalia, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Will Martin, Harrellson and Mr. and Mrs. Martin attended church services and the basket dinner at Clarksburg Baptist Church Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Fulk and Gale Hamlin left Thursday for Los Angeles, Calif., after a visit here. Mrs. Bessie Fulk remained for a longer visit.

Two young friends — ages eight and five — come to play on our rooftop terrace and taste our new recipe. We take the last cookie pan out of the oven, then we're ready for the tray. The little girls run to open the terrace door, move their dolls from the table. They bite into a cookie. Small hands reach for another, then another and another. "These are the bestest cookies!" they say.

Fruited Butter Cookies

Ingredients: 2 cups sifted flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 3/4 cup seedless raisins, 1 cup butter or margarine, damage freezer walls or the gas-ket around the opening.

Ice which forms in the freezer is too hard to scrape off so must be melted. To remove ice, disconnect the freezer and take out the food. Then melt ice off by running cold water over it. If the freezer has a drain. Otherwise, hasten the melting by placing an electric fan so that it blows cold air out and warm air in. Remove ice as it loosens and keep sponging up the water that forms. Have the inside dry when you connect the electricity and put back the frozen food.

When and How to Defrost

Frost is one of the homemaker's concerns in hot weather — frost in refrigerators and home freezers. When, how and why to defrost differs considerably with these two appliances.

Never allow the frost on the evaporator of the refrigerator to become more than one-fourth inch thick. The thicker the frost, the more it insulates or "blankets" the evaporator and reduces its cooling effect inside the refrigerator, no matter how much the motor runs. Thus thick frost allows the refrigerator to warm up so that foods don't keep so well. Most home refrigerators need defrosting at least once a week, says Miss Louise Woodruff, Missouri University home management specialist. And sometimes defrosting may be necessary more than once a week when hot weather plus more use of the refrigerator for cold foods and beverages causes frost to form faster.

Always follow the directions in the booklet that came with the refrigerator on how to defrost. Some manufacturers advise quick defrosting with hot water in the ice trays while others warn against it. Some models have automatic defrosting. If you have lost the book which came with your refrigerator, ask your dealer for another one.

In contrast to the refrigerator, home freezers or freezer compartments of refrigerators should need defrosting only once or twice a year. Best management calls for removing frost when it is about one-half inch thick on large areas of walls or shelves. However, tests show that frost can accumulate up to 1 1/2 inches thick (in chest-type freezers operating at zero F.) without warming the interior of the freezer enough to endanger frozen foods. Even this excessive frost did not cause much more than normal running of the freezer-motor, researchers report. Thick frost in a freezer is wasteful because it cuts down storage space and because as much electricity is spent holding frost at zero as on food that should be occupying the space.

Frost can be removed while the freezer is in operation, by scraping. Scoop-type tools are made especially for this job. Such tools catch the frost as they scrape it off. Some of the new types are made of plastic. Never scrape with anything sharp enough to

MRS. HOWARD R. FIELD

St. Joseph Home Economist Recommends Mrs. Tucker's Shortening!

"When I was asked to try Mrs. Tucker's Shortening in my White Layer Cake," says Mrs. Howard R. Field, well-known Home Economist, Route No. 7, St. Joseph, Mo., "I was eager to see how it would turn out. It was a delight to see how quickly the Mrs. Tucker's creamed and mixed with the other ingredients, and when the cake was finished, it was as fine as anybody could wish. Tender, and moist, and the grain was perfect."

"I was pleased to hear that Mrs. Tucker's offers GUARANTEED CAKE INSURANCE. I understand that anyone can bake a cake with Mrs. Tucker's Shortening, using any recipe that calls for shortening, and if she doesn't agree that her cake is better than any she ever made before, with ANY other shortening... lighter, more tender, moist, finer texture... then all she has to do is send in the recipe to Mrs. Tucker's Home-makers Department, Sherman, Texas, telling what she didn't like about the cake, and Mrs. Tucker will repay her for all the ingredients used, PLUS a dollar for her baking time."

New Way of Fixing Iced Tea Adds Zest to Mealtime

TALL COOL GLASSES OF ICED TEA make a refreshing way to end summer meals. Kabobs of fresh fruit add sparkle to meals.

Being an iced tea enthusiast myself, I recommend it as one of the best coolers yet devised by hot and thirsty man.

The Tea Council, experts in such matters, recommends a new way of making iced tea. The quantity produced is 2 quarts. It's called the open saucepan method.

How to Make Tea

You simply bring to a full rolling boil 1 quart of water in a saucepan. Remove from heat. Immediately add 6 tablespoons tea. Allow to brew 3 to 5 minutes, depending on the strength of tea you like. Stir. Strain into a pitcher or container holding 1 quart of cold water.

With this new method, it is not necessary to refrigerate the beverage.

If you prefer to keep it chilled, though, you will note that it is apt to cloud. Clouding does not affect the flavor of tea, but can be cleared by adding just enough boiling water to restore its crystal-clear quality. To serve — place 2 to 3 ice cubes in a glass, fill with tea, add sugar and lemon to taste.

Novel Serving
The Council goes in for novel methods of serving, believing most people like something extra in their tea.

They suggest serving it California-style with fresh fruit kabobs consisting of a cube of fresh or canned pineapple, a grape, thick quarter slice of orange, a cherry, lime slice and a fresh strawberry.

Cotton Bags Come Up for Awards At State Fair

"Save With Cotton Bags" is the title of the contest in which women and girls of Missouri may compete for $104 in cash awards, being offered in eight classes by the Textile Bag Manufacturers Association.

"In addition to the cash awards the Association is offering a 'sweepstakes award' of a $350 Pfaff Sewing Machine," said Mrs. P. L. Strode, Sedalia, superintendent of the home economics department.

The home economics department is offering a total of $1,300.75 in cash prizes which is paid in household arts and food. Prizes are also offered men who have entries in crocheting or chocolate cake baking.

This department has grown steadily for several years and interest as well as in attractive premiums are drawing exhibits from every corner of the state.

Premium catalogs and entry blanks may be obtained by addressing requests to Rollo E. Singleton, secretary Fairgrounds, Sedalia.

NOW! YOU CAN HAVE YOUR CHOICE OF TWO WONDERFUL METHODS!

WHEN YOU MAKE JAMS with easy-to-use, dependable M.C.P. JAM AND JELLY PECTIN... you can now make the regular cooked kind, or use the marvelous new recipe just developed by M.C.P. for making jams without the usual cooking or boiling. Each has advantages; but, whichever method you use, you can be sure of successful results every time!

For Flavor and Color... M.C.P. uncooked jams are the finest anyone can possibly make! Why? Because, by eliminating the cooking and boiling, you "flavor-guard" ALL the fresh fruit flavor, retain ALL the lovely color. And, you get a pint of jam from each cup of crushed fruit! This method is particularly suitable when you make a small batch at a time, for the uncooked jams must be kept in your refrigerator, and can't be stored on the pantry shelf. You can't beat them for flavor and color, though! (The M.C.P. uncooked jam recipe is so new they're not in the regular folder in the M.C.P. PECTIN package, but you can get them free by writing the M.C.P. Kitchen Laboratory, Anaheim, Calif.)

The Regular Cooked Jams can be made in large amounts and kept on the pantry shelf. Made with colorless, odorless, and tasteless M.C.P. PECTIN, they're the finest-flavored cooked jams you could ask for. But, the cooking necessary to make them keep on the shelf can't help causing some loss of flavor compared with the uncooked jams. Even the shortest boil doesn't "flavor-guard" this difference!

Remember This: Homemade jams and jellies taste better and cost less than the kind you buy, and, dependable M.C.P. JAM AND JELLY PECTIN will help you make MORE AND BETTER jams and jellies than any other pectin you can buy. Try it... and see for yourself!

THIS CREAMY FRENCH DRESSING WILL NOT SEPARATE!

PECTIN DOES IT! That is, M.C.P. PECTIN. No other will do the trick! Seems strange to use pectin this way, but it's a plus value you get with M.C.P. JAM AND JELLY PECTIN. The recipe was developed by the M.C.P. Kitchen Laboratory, which is always looking for new uses for M.C.P. products. Thousands have made M.C.P. French Dressing and called it "wonderful." The non-separating feature particularly appeals, also, the great economy. If you'd like this fine recipe, too, simply write to the M.C.P. Kitchen Laboratory, Anaheim, California. You'll get the recipe promptly, without charge.

THE BIGGEST BEVERAGE BARGAIN OF THEM ALL!

HOMEMADE LEMONADE... so refreshing and wholesome... so inexpensive... too, made with M.C.P. CANNED LEMON JUICE. One small can makes about 12 glasses at less than 1¢ the cost of 12 bottles of most soft drinks. And how much better for the kids... for everyone! So easy to make — no muss or fuss, just add water and sugar. M.C.P. LEMON JUICE is pure, full strength, rich in Vitamin C... contains no artificial preservatives (sulphur dioxide or benzoate of soda). It's so convenient, so economical, so useful — for lemonade, cooking, baking, jam and jelly making, and so many other ways. Why not write the M.C.P. Kitchen Laboratory, Anaheim, Calif., for FREE recipe folder? (There's M.C.P. FROZEN LEMON JUICE, too. If your grocer doesn't stock it, ask him to get it for you.)
